Probers Talk Of Subpenaing His Records

Washington —AP— Bernard Goldfine refused today to tell house investigators why he issued two checks totaling $178,982.64 last year. The congressmen threatened to subpoena his books.

Chairman Oren Harris (D-Ark) of the house subcommittee hearing Goldfine for the fourth day told the Boston industrialist either to answer the question or have his books subpoenaed for committee inspection.

"On advice of counsel, I can't answer," Goldfine said.

The checks in the controversy were one for $83,385.35 issued March 28, 1957, and one for $95,597.29 issued April 30, 1957, to the Yale Wool Waste Co. by one of Goldfine's textile mills, the Northfield firm.

Rep. John B. Bennett (R-Mich) said the Yale company was under investigation in 1957 on a mislabeling charge. He said Yale had sold some of the goods involved in the investigation to Northfield at a lower price than usual.

Says Checks Not Used

He demanded that Goldfine say whether the checks were issued to pay Yale for any goods supplied to Northfield.

Goldfine said the checks were never used. He said they were deposited back into the bank by his Northfield firm. Therefore, he argued, they could not have been used for any purpose.

Bennett insisted that Goldfine say whether they were intended, when issued, to be used as a line of credit.

"I respectfully decline to answer," Goldfine replied. He said the question was not pertinent to the committee's investigation of federal trade commission activities.

But Bennett insisted that it was pertinent. He asked Chairman Harris for a ruling.

Harris said he had no way of deciding whether the question was relevant or not if Goldfine refused to reply, and he added:

"It will be the purpose of the chairman to issue a subpoena for your books."

Scolds Goldfine

Harris said "a lot of things could be done to clear the air." One of them, he added, would be a look at Goldfine's books to see how he treated the checks, so the investigators could determine why the checks were issued, even though not used.

Harris chided Goldfine for what he called "a ridiculous attitude" in refusing to answer committee questions on grounds it was none of the committee's business.

He said it was a "lack of cooperation . . . and an unreasonable attitude to take."

1,041-Pound Man Dies in Trailer Home

Bremen, Ind. —AP— Robert Earl Hughes, possibly the heaviest man in medical history, died today in his trailer home parked beside Bremen Community hospital.

Mrs. Mary Harris, hospital administrator, said uremia evidently was the cause of the 1,041-pound, 32-year-old man's death.

He became ill while traveling with a carnival and was brought to this northern Indiana town Sunday, suffering from a variety of ailments, including measles and a heart condition.

He could not be taken into the hospital building because of his massive bulk, too great for any standard bed. He remained in his traveling house, built on a truck bed, and nurses climbed a ladder to attend him.

Otho Huff, Bremen undertaker, embalmed the body on Hughes' trailer bed, built of 2 by 4 boards. He said it probably would be necessary to leave the body in the trailer while it is taken to Emden, Mo., for funeral services.

Guy B. Hughes, brother of the big man, said he would order a special coffin but it probably would be too large to be taken into the Emden Baptist church for the funeral. Burial will be in a cemetery at Binville, Ill.

The carnival star was 10 feet 2 inches around the waist, 40 inches around each upper arm, and 6 feet tall.

Strike Begun At Ohio Plant

Stoppage at GM Division Lacks UAW Authorization

Columbus, Ohio —AP— An unauthorized strike by members of the United Auto Workers halted production at the giant General Motors Termostad division plant here today.

It was one of the first major work stoppages since the UAW-General Motors contract expired May 29. Negotiations in Detroit for a new contract have been deadlocked.

Only a handful of the 2,500 first shift workers showed up this morning and picket lines were established.

Mrs. Sarah E. Campbell, president of UAW Local 989, said:

"No strike has been authorized. We will try to get the people back to work as soon as possible, but that might be difficult. Feeling has been running pretty high out there."

Mrs. Campbell said the dispute centered around company layoff policy. She said between 400 and 500 workers have been laid off since the old contract expired.

Harris said that June 25

Refuses Reply To Questions At Rackets Quiz

Teitelbaum Silent In Face of Threat Of Contempt Action

Washington —AP— Abraham Teitelbaum, one-time lawyer for gangster Al Capone, drew a threat of prosecution for contempt of congress today by refusing to answer any questions before the senate rackets investigating committee.

The demand for contempt action came from Sen. Karl E. Mundt (R-SD) who accused the ponderous, florid-faced lawyer-witness of holding the committee up to public scorn by refusing even to tell whether he is a citizen.

Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark) overruled Mundt's proposal for immediate action, and directed that questioning proceed in the committee investigation of alleged infiltration of unions and legitimate business by gangsters.

Mundt became angered after Teitelbaum refused even to say where he was born, whether he is an attorney or a United States citizen.

Shouts His Views

The bald Teitelbaum demanded but was denied permission to make a statement before being sworn for questioning in which the committee expects to ask about an alleged 1954 gangland plot to kill Teitelbaum.

Shouting, Teitelbaum managed to get in the record much of what he had wanted to say in the statement.

He argued that as a result of a voluntary appearance before a house committee investigating income tax scandals in 1951, "the internal revenue service has been hounding me."

Teitelbaum said he was not given "certain immunities and protection" by the house committee.

A central figure in a 1951 house investigation of tax scandals, Teitelbaum ultimately was indicted and placed on probation after conviction on income tax evasion charges. He says he now lives in Hollywood, serving as technical director of a motion picture about Capone's crime career.

Surgery to Halt Clot Performed on Cardinal's Leg

Belgrade —AP— Using instruments sterilized in a pot of boiling water on the kitchen stove, a Yugoslav doctor performed an emergency operation on Alojzije Cardinal Stepinac's right leg yesterday to halt a blood clot from threatening his life.

The operation was performed by Dr. Branislav Bogicevic on a makeshift operating table in one of the rooms of the cardinal's little house. Dr. Bogicevic said he worked only in the dim daylight coming through the windows. He used a local anesthetic.

The doctor reported that it was too early to tell whether the operation was a success.

Goodwin's radio message came from Goodmund Winter, captain of the troller L. C. D., who asked that the injured be picked up at Pelican, about 85 miles west of here. However, the coast guard asked Goodwin not to fly there because of unfavorable weather conditions.

Hawaii Escapes

Honolulu —AP— The U. S. Coast and Geodetic Survey called off an alert early today after an expected tidal wave failed to reach the Hawaiian islands.

A "red alert" was called when reports received here that a strong earthquake in the Gulf of Alaska had generated a massive sea wave.

Hope to Recover Live Mouse in Rocket Cone

This Is One of the Two Stokely-Van Camp pea vineries damaged by Wednesday night's storm. Located two miles east of Darboy, this viner station No. 1 was nearly destroyed and is being rebuilt. The steel shed was blown 200 feet into the field and the wind ripped the roof off the building, tossing it over 40 feet into the air before it smashed to the ground. Seven of the 10 straw carriers blew down and eight poles that hold the carriers in place broke. Viner station No. 9 at Apple Creek also was damaged. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Launched by Air Force In Florida

Cape Canaveral, Fla. —AP— Preliminary reports today indicated that the chances are good for recovering a live mouse hurled through space in an advanced nose cone at attempted inter-continental range.

A mighty Thor-Able rocket carrying the mouse in its highly secret warhead thundered aloft from the test center last night.

The air force announced 15 minutes after what appeared to be a perfect launching that preliminary data showed the missile performed satisfactorily.

It still was too early to tell, however, whether the towering two-stage rocket was the first U.S. ballistic weapon to travel 6,000 miles or more through space.

Await Official Word

An official announcement on the results of the test was expected from Washington.

The mission was to recover the nose cone and its live passenger if they survived the fiery plunge through the earth's atmosphere from outer space.

A successful test also would prove the performance of the two stages which reportedly will play a key role in three air force moon probes. A 3-stage version of the Thor-Able probably will be used in the first lunar shot expected in a month or so.

The same Douglas Aircraft Co. team which handled last night's launching will control the first air force flight toward the moon.

A fleet of air force telemetry ships was stationed near Ascension island off the African coast to spot the nose cone as it dropped into the depths.

Only the Snark, a jet-propelled missile that travels only 600 m.p.h., has covered the intercontinental distance up to now. It is not a space weapon, however.

Visible 160 Miles

The test rocket — a Douglas Thor intermediate range missile coupled with a modified Vanguard second stage vehicle — streaked into the starlit Florida sky with an ear-splitting roar and a flash of yellow flame.

The firing was sighted as far away as Jacksonville, 160 miles north of Cape Canaveral, for a al.

The rocket appeared to function normally during the three minutes it was in view to press observers a mile and a half from the launching site.

If he survived the 30-minute trip, the tiny white mouse would be a prize patient for researchers studying the problems of manned space flight.

The mouse was nicknamed "Mia II" for "mouse in able". The original "Mia" died when the first Thor-Able rocket became lost in space and apparently plunged into the Atlantic last April 23.

Alaska Struck By Earthquake

Several Fishing Boats in Trouble In Lituya Bay

Juneau —AP— Three persons were reported dead and two missing today from a major earthquake which struck southeastern Alaska last night.

Juneau, Alaska —AP— A major earthquake struck a wide area of southeastern Alaska last night and several fishing boats were reported in trouble in Lituya bay on the Gulf of Alaska.

The coast guard dispatched a 95-foot rescue boat from Juneau to Lituya bay about 50 miles northwest of Cape Spencer. The cutter Sorrell, normally stationed at Sitka but anchored at Yakutat last night, also was sent to the area.

A coast guard official said the Sorrell reported recovering a capsized cabin cruiser which was supposed to have been carrying four persons. The cruiser, however, could have been torn loose from anchorage while no one was aboard, he said.

Deam Goodwin, a Juneau bush pilot, said he received a radio report that several persons had been injured but he said the report was garbled and he could not say where or how the injuries occurred.

Goodwin's radio message came from Goodmund Winter, captain of the troller L. C. D., who asked that the injured be picked up at Pelican, about 85 miles west of here. However, the coast guard asked Goodwin not to fly there because of unfavorable weather conditions.

Wiesbaden, Germany —AP—

Soviet civilians threatened to hang one of nine U. S. airmen shot down in Soviet Armenia and roughed up others, a U. S. Air Force colonel said today.

Col. Dale D. Brannon of Charleston, Ohio, senior officer aboard the unwarmed transport plane downed in flames June 27, said Maj. Bennie A. Shupe of Miami, Fla., narrowly missed being lynched.

Rescued by Police

"The rope was attached to a telephone pole and the nose hang me on a telephone pole I shouted 'New York-Chicago' to make them understand I was an American. While hanging preparations were still going on one man shouted something, I don't know what, but it stopped them," Shupe said.

The abuse by Russian civilians of the other five stopped as soon as they were turned over to Soviet authorities, he said.

1.24 Inches of Rain Dumped by Storm

Farm Buildings, Vineries Hit By High Winds in Darboy Area

Whipped by winds that reached 51 miles an hour, a series of severe thunderstorms swept through the Fox Cities area Wednesday evening, dumping almost an inch and a quarter of rain and causing extensive damage to rural buildings.

Hardest hit was the Darboy area, where barn roofs were ripped off, a house trailer tipped over and other farm buildings moved off their foundations.

At least two pea vineries of Stokely-Van Camp, Inc., at Darboy and Apple Creek, were wrecked by wind.

Poles downed by the storm caused a power outage in the Darboy-Little Chicago area, and service was out for two hours on Appleton's northwest side after lightning struck the Mason street substation at 7:50.

Warnings Issued

Streets were flooded temporarily as the sewer system was unable to handle the tremendous runoff when 1.24 inches of rain fell in about 4 hours. The rain, wind and lightning came in waves, with the skies almost clearing between some of the storms.

Severe thunderstorm warnings had been issued for the area 75 miles on either side of a line extending from northwestern Missouri to a point 60 miles east of Green Bay.

There were no reports of tornadoes, although one Appleton.

The four crewmen who landed with the plane and were picked up by Soviet soldiers were not molested, he said.

Maj. Shupe, who parachuted from the burning plane, said he was badly beaten up by the peasants who captured him.

Discuss Trade With Red China

Ike and Diefenbaker Nearing End of Talks in Ottawa

Ottawa —AP— The Canadian-American summit conference went into its concluding hours today with agreements nailed down to cooperate on the questions of trade with red China and prevention of surprise attack.

President Eisenhower and Canadian Prime Minister John G. Diefenbaker set up a final session this morning in an effort to reach a further meeting of minds on other issues which finance committee today apparently have put increasing strain in proving a reciprocal trade law extension cut down to three years and drastically curtailing ican neighbors.

The afternoon was left free for the president to test his committee wrote in a provision golfing skill at the Ottawa Hunt club. He lined up a foursome with club President John Cross, before the chief executive Canadian Transport Minister, a tariff George Hees and Senate Speaker recommendation or Mark Drouin.

They were flown back to Wiesbaden, headquarters of the U. S. Air Force in Europe, for medical observation and consultations with air force officials before appearing before the press today.

Col. Brannon denied that the flight over Armenia was an intentional violation of Soviet territory. In order to avoid a turbulent thunderstorm, the plane steered slightly north off course, he said.

The crew did not realize it was over Soviet territory until they noticed two jet fighter

Nasser and Tito Ask Major Powers to Settle Their Problems

Pula, Yugoslavia —AP— Presidents Nasser and Tito today urged the world's "two antagonistic blocs" to find a settlement of their problems.

The Egyptian and Yugoslav presidents issued a communique after talks on Tito's Adriatic island retreat, Brioni. They declared "foreign domination, the interference by some countries in the internal affairs of other countries, and the use of pressure or force or threat of force by any country against another one."

The communique specifically referred to Lebanon and Indonesia, but it also mentioned pressures in "various parts of the world"—an apparent reference to Tito's dispute with the Kremlin.

It appealed for the convening of a summit conference and for an end to thermonuclear tests. It said these tests should be ended wherever held, "whether that be an ocean or the African Sahara desert or any other place."

Warn Yugoslavs They Might Meet Fate of Revolt Chiefs

East German Stalinist Boss Opens Party Congress With Angry Attack On Revisionism of Tito Government

Berlin — East Germany's Stalinist Boss Walter Ulbricht today warned Yugoslav leaders they may suffer the fate of the executed leaders of the Hungarian revolt if they persist in independent communism.

Opening the East German party congress in the presence of Soviet Premier Khrushchev, the East German party chief angrily condemned revisionism — the Kremlin's name for independent communism — in Yugoslavia as "an open attack on the socialist bloc."

The spade-headed Stalinist said "the fate of the Nagy government shows where revisionism leads."

Kadar Listens Hungary's puppet party Chief Janos Kadar sat listening in the crowded, tense East Berlin hall as Ulbricht made speech Tuesday by Khrushchev's reference to the execution of former Premier Imre Nagy and defense Minister Paul Maléter.

Ulbricht's high pitched voice shrilled:

"We must create an atmosphere of intolerance against all revisionism."

More than 2,000 East German and foreign delegates sat silently as Ulbricht unleashed this toughest attack yet on President Tito's Yugoslav party. Yugoslav communists are

Massachusetts Train Resumes Operation

Boston — Trains on the Old Colony branch of the New Haven railroad were running again in Southeastern Massachusetts today after a 24-hour cessation of service.

Full service was reinstated after George Alpert, president of the railroad, was assured by state officials that a $900,000 subsidy proposal would be amended to the railroad's satisfaction.

Under the plan, Boston would give the New Haven railroad $225,000 and the 37 other cities and towns served by the Old Colony would pay $675,000 for continuation of train service another year.

The railroad closed its Old Colony division for what was to be for all time yesterday because of heavy deficits.

High Speed of Planes Disrupts Radio Signals

Causes Danger for Men in Supersonic Aircraft; Expert Sees Satellites as Answer to Problem

BY RENNIE TAYLOR Associated Press Science Reporter

Los Angeles — Some planes now can go fast enough to push radio signals out of their allotted frequency channels, says an electronics expert.

This can mean danger for men in supersonic aircraft because it reduces or in some cases can prevent effective communication during fleeting moments when warnings or other information are vital, he said.

The best way out of the problem, the specialist said, is to establish artificial radio relay stations in satellites thousands of miles above the earth.

Research Organization The expert, R. W. Parkinson, of the Ramo-Woolridge, corporation, of Los Angeles, described the problem in an address prepared for delivery today at the Institute of Aeronautical Sciences. Ramo-Woolridge is a research organization holding extensive government contracts.

Two planes closing in on each other and each traveling at 2 1/2 times the speed of sound get a speedup in their communication used voice communication band, Parkinson said. After they pass each other the frequency is slowed down by the same amount.

The effect is basically the same as the rising and falling notes of a train whistle or an automobile horn when a car on a highway passes a train going in the opposite direction. Scientifically it is called the Doppler effect.

This variation may crowd the signal clear out of the band to which it is allotted, Parkinson declared. Unless the receiving plane returns its tone to compensate for this, it may get only part of the message or may miss it entirely.

Satellites Answer One answer to this and other shortcomings of present radio communication, the specialist added, is the establishment of two or three satellites 22,000 miles above the earth with instruments for relaying short-wave signals.

These satellites would have the same speed as the rotation of the earth, so they would seem to be stationary in the sky. At the same time they would reflect signals not just U.S. Ambassador Llewellyn

Russians Demand Work Toward Immediate Ban on Nuclear Testing

Moscow — The Soviet Union has demanded again that the United States agree that the Geneva conference of nuclear scientists work for an immediate, universal suspension of nuclear weapons tests.

The east-west conference, which began July 1, is restricted to seeking ways to detect violations of any ban on tests that might be agreed on at later political talks.

A week before the Geneva meeting got under way, the Russians threatened not to send a delegation unless the United States agreed in advance that a halt to atomic weapon tests was the goal of the conference.

The United States said that would be putting the cart before the horse. It insisted the scientists could only talk about practical means of detecting atomic tests. The Russians sent a delegation anyway.

Not Impressed In a sharp note last night the Soviet Union accused the United States of trying to justify its refusal to end nuclear tests by claiming that effective control of a test ban was impossible "even though it is now the Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko handed the note to U.S. Ambassador Llewellyn

Urge Action to Deny Passports To Communists

Quick Steps Needed In Light of Ruling By Supreme Court

Washington — Sen. Robert L. Hruska (R-Neb.) called today for quick action by congress to empower the secretary of state to deny passports to communists.

"It's an urgent situation," he said.

Hruska told a reporter that testimony of Robert D. Johnson, chief of the legal division of the state department's passport office, pointed up a need for legislation such as President Eisenhower has recommended.

At a senate internal security subcommittee yesterday, Johnson said that passports already have been issued to about 65 persons who would have been processed under "our communist regulations" had it not been for recent supreme court rulings.

No Legal Authority Their applications were pending at the time, he said.

The court, in three cases decided June 16 held that the secretary of state has no legal authority to deny passports to communists or others because of their associations or beliefs.

Johnson said that since the court's ruling, about 70 passport applications have been received from persons "we'd normally process under our communist regulations."

He said passports also will have to be issued to these applicants.

Johnson also told Hruska and other subcommittee members that passports now have been issued to Singer Paul Robeson and others who had been denied them and who had appeals to the courts pending at the time of the supreme court's decision.

He said the ruling had invalidated department regulations issued in 1952. These authorized the secretary to deny passports to persons he found to be under communist discipline or to be going abroad to advance the communist movement.

In answer to questions, Johnson said that the state department could not now deny passports even to persons it knew to be espionage agents, so long as they were American citizens and had not been convicted of espionage.

Earlier this week Eisenhower sent a message to congress urging enactment of legislation to permit denial of passports to persons whose activities have aided communism in the 10 years prior to their application.

The senate foreign relations committee has scheduled hearings on the measure starting July 16.

Washington — Sen. William Proxmire (D-Wis.) said Wednesday that Dr. Milton Eisenhower's use of military planes was "a cavalier misuse of the taxpayers' funds."

Proxmire told the senate he regarded as wholly unsatisfactory the White House and Pentagon explanations of the use of the planes.

Three military planes were used to return Dr. Eisenhower and his daughter, Ruth, 19, to Washington Tuesday from Land O'Lakes, Wis., where they had been vacationing.

Proxmire said, "Land O'Lakes is a short 2 or 2 1/2 hours automobile drive from Wausau. Land O'Lakes is serviced by regular commercial airlines in the summer. Wausau itself has excellent plane connections with Milwaukee and Chicago.

"It is ridiculous to contend that Dr. Eisenhower's presence a few hours earlier in Washington, as permitted by use of military aircraft, served the conveniences of the government."

Proxmire also charged that the air force handled the trip with what he termed an air of secrecy.

The Wisconsin Democrat said, "The air force pilot involved is reliably reported to have told the CAB chief in Wausau that this trip is 'not for public information.'

"This is information the public has every right to know and to know fully and promptly."

Court of Appeals To Act Promptly On Little Rock Case

St. Louis — The U. S. court of appeals here has indicated it will act promptly in deciding whether Little Rock's Central High school will be racially integrated next fall.

A hearing on the case may be set for Aug. 4, the date suggested by the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People.

Chief Judge Archibald K. Gardner has named three judges to hear an NAACP appeal from an order by Federal District Judge Harry L. Lemley at Little Rock. Judge Lemley's order would block integration of Negro and white students at Central for 30 months.

Judges who will decide the issue are John B. Sanborn, 74, St. Paul, Minn.; Martin D. Van Oosterhout, 58, Orange City, Iowa; and Harvey M. Johnson, 63, Omaha, Neb.

Wiley Branton, Pine Bluff, Ark., attorney for the NAACP, suggested an Aug. 4 hearing after the judges invited both sides to submit a date.

U. S. Commander of Atlantic Fleet Probes Prisoner Release Delay

Adm. Jerauld Wright Due in Today At Guantanamo to Check Situation

Guantanamo, Cuba — The commander of the U. S. Atlantic fleet was due here today to inquire into the delay in the release by Cuban rebels of 30 kidnapped American servicemen.

Fidel Castro's men freed the last two captive American civilians Wednesday, leaving only the sailors and marines plus one Canadian civilian in the rebels' jungle camps.

The Atlantic fleet commander, Adm. Jerauld Wright, was flying down from his headquarters at Norfolk, Va., to the U.S. navy base on Guantanamo bay to look into the situation. He planned to return to Norfolk in the afternoon and perhaps go on to Washington tomorrow to talk with officials there.

The navy obviously is growing impatient at the delay in getting its men back. Nineteen civilians have been released so far but no servicemen have been freed.

Rear Adm. R. B. Ellis, the base commander, said U.S. Consul Park Wollam had told him he fully expected five sailors to be released yesterday. Wollam has been in rebel territory negotiating for release of the captives since shortly after the kidnappings began two weeks ago.

Joint Grievance Group Proposed

Unit Would Screen Complaints From College Teachers

Madison — A joint grievance committee of regents and college faculty members has been proposed by the administration of the state college system to screen complaints of state college teachers.

Stemming directly from the recent disputes involving faculty members at the state college at Superior, the proposal would provide informal machinery for the hearing of faculty relations problems and would not interfere with the statutory provisions already in effect, explained Director E. R. McPhee of the state college system.

The idea was praised by Regent President W. D. McIntyre of Eau Claire, but the board voted to defer approval action until the next meeting when several members indicated they want more time to consider it.

Teacher Tenure The committee would be active principally in problems involving teacher tenure, it was explained.

Representatives of the association of state college faculties also endorsed the plan.

State college tenure policies erupted into public controversy during the last year—the first time in decades—when President Jim Dan Hill of the college at Superior fired a Superior faculty member, Prof. George Ball.

Ball appealed his case to the courts, but it has not yet been heard.

Fliers Beaten By Civilians After Capture

Eau Claire Pilot Dies in Crash

Spangdahlem, Germany — Capt. Donn F. Chandler, 39, of Eau Claire, was identified Monday night as the pilot who died keeping his plane from crashing in the German village of Beilngen.

Air force crash investigators reported they found proof that Chandler had made special efforts to keep his plane from hitting Beilngen.

can plane "with the apparent intention to shoot it down."

The American transport was hit on the wing tanks just behind the left No. 2 engine and fire broke out immediately. Orders were given to abandon the plane. But because of the severe flames and heat, only five of the crewmen were able to bail out.

As the plane was landing in flames, the Soviet fighters made another firing pass. The airstrip on which the C118 landed was under construction and had only 2,000 feet of useable runway.

The pilot, Maj. Luther W. Lyles of Savoy, Texas, was able to stop the plane shortly after running off the end of the strip. Because of the danger of explosion, the crew members abandoned the burning plane as soon as it stopped.

While the men were being questioned by Russian authorities: "We were not subjected to physical mistreatment. We were given adequate medical care. We were interrogated by personnel who spoke good English and who appeared friendly."

Goldfine Refuses to Give Data on 2 Checks

was just after Goldfine had received an invitation to testify. In reference to the checks, Goldfine said:

"We wanted to prove that we still had the checks and they weren't being held by someone else. For business reasons we didn't want to put the rest back in the bank."

As Harris and his colleagues listened in apparent incredulity, the 67-year-old millionaire went on:

"We brought the rest down to show you. That's all there is to it, Mr. Chairman."

There was "no particular reason" why the checks were cashed, Goldfine added.

Rep. John Bell Williams (D-Miss) broke in to demand some "clarification" which he said was needed in Goldfine's answer.

But Harris stopped questioning from committee members at this point. He said it would take a month to get through with the questioning if the congressmen butted in too freely.

In advance of Goldfine's return for a fourth day of testimony, at least four members of the special house subcommittee said they were studying the key point of what is pertinent to their inquiry.

Subcommittee Counsel Robert W. Lishman has been asked to study supreme court opinions on what congressmen may not properly ask.

The court in one major opinion on that point a year ago ruled that a committee must show the witness that its questions are pertinent to the inquiry. That opinion, which set aside a contempt of congress conviction, quoted another opinion that a congressional investigation into individual affairs "is invalid if unrelated to any legislative purpose."

Goldfine, limiting the extent to which he would answer questions yesterday about his business affairs, contended many queries were not pertinent.

Surplus Disproves Bankrupt Charges, GOP Officer Says

By The Associated Press

The state Republican chairman declared Wednesday night that Democratic claims that the state is bankrupt are disproved by a surplus of $14 million at the end of the last fiscal year.

Defending the GOP administration, Claude Jasper of Madison told a Republican meeting at Jefferson that although Democrats have repeated the charge for 20 years "the state has always had a surplus."

He added that "money returned to local units of government in the form of state aids and shared taxes during the past 20 years has increased by more than 500 per cent in many instances — with no increase in the basic income tax."

State Sen. Gaylord Nelson, Democratic candidate for governor, told a Wausau audience that not a single Republican state candidate has disassociated himself from the Sherman Adams - Bernard Goldfine relationship.

"The Adams case," he said, "is only part of the iceberg showing above the water."

Christ Seraphim, Milwaukee, a candidate for the Democratic nomination for attorney general, branded so-called right-to-work legislation as a "fraud" and a "deception of the first order."

Urges Immediate Construction of New State Prison

Waupun — The state welfare board was told Wednesday that crowded conditions in the state's penal facilities make it imperative that construction of the proposed new medium security institution at Fox Lake be undertaken soon.

Sanger B. Powers, director of the state division of corrections, said that if the upsurge of commitments at Waupun State prison, Central State Hospital for the Criminally Insane and the Green Bay State reformatory continues "There just won't be enough room to handle the admissions at the institutions, which already are overcrowded."

Powers advised that plans and construction for the Fox Lake facility be accelerated. The institution already has been approved.

The board also was told of the need for new construction and repairs at Waupun prison and Central State hospital.

Man Spends Five Days on Canyon Wall

Alamosa, Colo. — The terrible ordeal was over, but husky John L. Sanders shook his head at doctors. Sleep, he said, was the last thing he wanted.

Sanders, 35, had been rescued a few hours earlier yesterday from the tiny ledge on a canyon wall where he had spent five days and nights. During the first 48 hours, he didn't sleep at all for fear he would fall 300 feet as his friend and fishing partner had done last Friday.

William E. Garver, 38, auditor for the University of New Mexico, died in a plunge down the face of Conejos canyon northwest of here. His body was recovered Tuesday.

Sanders, an Albuquerque businessman, clung to his 3-by-4-foot rock shelf, alternately shouting and praying, for three days. He was spotted Monday, given his first food Tuesday, and rescued by army mountaineers shortly after noon yesterday.

They lowered him by litter to the base of the 800-foot rock wall. From there, the 6-foot, 200-pound man walked three miles and rode a horse another mile to a waiting ambulance and his wife, Carolyn.

Sanders was taken to Alamosa Community hospital where physicians said he survived the ordeal in surprisingly good condition.

Woman, Daughter Save 2 Wisconsin Fishermen From Lake Superior

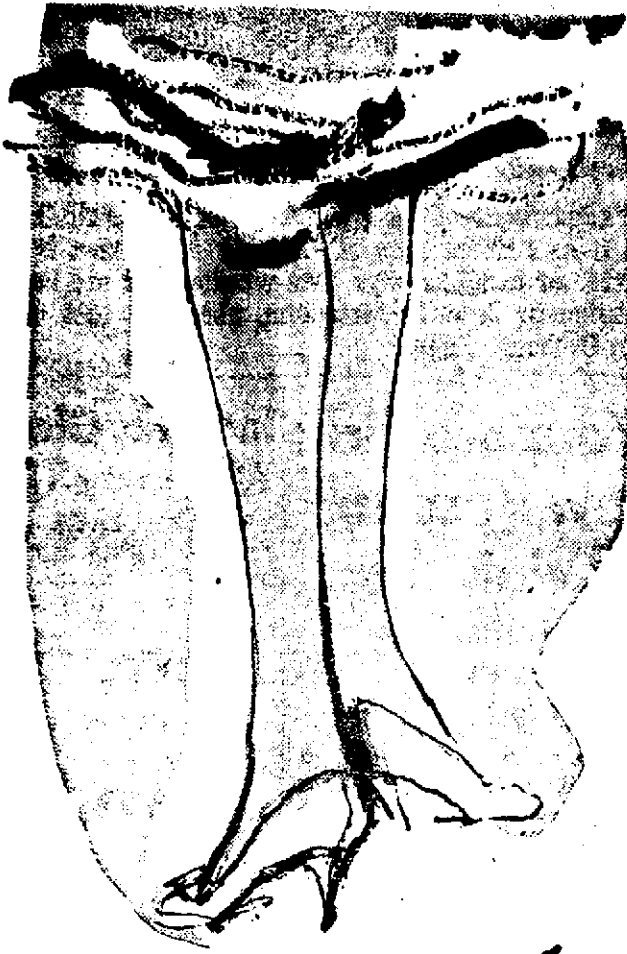

Jackfish, Ont. — Two Wisconsin fishermen were rescued from Lake Superior by a woman and her 13-year-old daughter who launched a heavy skiff to reach them.

Edward Debrias, 52, vice principal of a Milwaukee high school, and Harold Matthias, 50, a teacher from Ashland, were swept into the lake Tuesday when their boat overturned in the Steel river, four and one-half miles east of this community on the north-shore of Lake Superior.

They clung to the boat and were carried a mile into the lake before being rescued by Mrs. W. J. Cherutti and her daughter, Arlene.

Democratic Strength Up Through State

Largest Number of Candidates in Generation Make Try for Offices

BY JOHN WYNGAARD
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Madison — If the hunches of the office-seekers have any value, the Democratic party's prospects in this Republican state are looking up.

Even some of the Democratic party headquarters managers were surprised and gratified by the unusual number of Democratic candidates filing for nominations by the deadline this week.

There are more Democratic aspirants for the state ticket than in any other campaign year for a generation. A better index of the health of the party will be the number of county level aspirants. But Democrats are hopeful that for the first time they will have a high percentage of filled county tickets to match Republicans, who usually have led in producing local candidate material.

In Outagamie county, for the first time in years, Democrats have fielded an almost-full field of candidates. There are blank spots for the offices of district attorney, surveyor and register of deeds. Two candidates are in the running for the Second district assembly seat.

Number Not Vital
The fact that there are more Democratic candidates on the primary ballot than for the Republican ballot is not necessarily important or significant because Republicans are incumbents and most run unopposed.

What is being studied with care by the professional politicians, however, is that Democrats can produce candidates places that formerly went begging.

Not all Democratic candidates will make serious campaigns. Some of them are only nominal candidates.

As one of them explained with unusual candor in a talk with a Republican statehouse official recently, "There might be a landslide, and I want to be in on it."

The cumulative effect of large numbers of candidates for office is beneficial to the party as a whole. Both Democratic and Republican strategists have recognized the asset the Republicans had over many years through a superiority of candidate numbers.

Makes Tornado Shelter From Old Automobile

Frontenac, Kan., — Machinist John Sinkovic has made a tornado shelter out of an old automobile.

He stripped off the wheels, bumpers, fenders, front seat, windshield and motor, and sank the body 30 inches deep in the ground.

Steps were rigged through the windshield opening and benches were placed inside. Rocks were racked up around the sides, the top was covered with dirt and seeded to grass.

and broke up what officials called a minor disturbance.

Warden Theodore E. Woodruff said cause of the violence has not been determined.

"It is going to cost them," said Woodruff. "We didn't give them the real treatment."

The warden said the 28 convicts broke a few windows and lamps. All those housed in the dormitory are 18 and 19 years old first offenders.

Woodruff said that after the tear gas was fired into the dormitory, the prisoners subsided.

Ranquette emphasized the addition of the well would be a safety feature for the north side of the city. In the event trouble should arise with water lines feeding the north-side from the southside wells, the new well will serve to minimize the danger of the north side being without water.

Bruce Stevens, district engineer from Green Bay, has looked over the new well site and passed favorable judgment on the sanitary condition of the location. The new well will be approximately 600 feet deep and is expected to have a yield of about 500 gallons of water per minute, according to the manager.

Neenah Swimmers Decision Kaukauna in Rained Out Meet

League Leaders Score in Seventh To Take Decision

Kaukauna — A 5-run outburst in the top of the last inning enabled Nagels to regain first place in the City Peters 13 to 9. The second game of the evening had VFW bar down Combined Locks Paper 11 to 3.

Nagels have a record of 11 wins and two defeats, Peters have one win and 11 losses. VFW has seven wins and five defeats and Locks paper has won six and lost six.

The league leaders scored two runs in the first inning, four in the second, two in the fourth and five in the seventh. A home run by Emil Giordana, his third hit in as many trips, was the big blow in the final inning. The losers scored one in the first, five in the third, one in the fourth and two in the sixth inning.

The VFW and Combined Locks game was shortened to five innings as the winners had built up a substantial lead and threatened to make the game a runaway.

As in past years the choir runs in the first inning, four in the second, one in the third and three in the fourth. They did not come to bat in the bottom of the fifth. The losers tallied one run in the first inning and three in the third.

Joe Gertz led the winners with two doubles and a single while Dan Bowers chipped in with two singles and a triple. Gene Wenzel had two of the five hits for the losers.

1.24 Inches Rain Dumped by Storm

Joseph Hartzheim family, was and on until 10:30. Chilton had only .13 of an inch. Two Rivers had about an inch of rain, while the fall at Green Bay was about six-tenths of an inch. When the storm ripped over the Elmer H. Coenen farm at Darboy, four teenage girls were in the house alone. They had planned to sleep in the house, the trailer on the farm, which later blew over, but had decided against it when the storm broke.

They are the three Coenen girls, Carol, 19, Pat, 16, Myra, 15, and their friend, Olivia Jensen, 15, Darboy.

Others Vacationing
The trailer was the home of the Coenen girls' grandmother, Mrs. Rose Van den Bogart, who was vacationing in northern Wisconsin with Mr. and Mrs. Coenen and four of their children.

The wind picked up a corn crib on the farm, smashing it, moved a chicken house back into the area where the 12 cows were pastured. When the chicken house broke the fence, the cows strayed into Darboy and had to be rounded up by a group of neighbors.

A 30-foot section of a barn roof was blown into the air and smashed to the ground on a farm one and a half miles east of Darboy. The farmhouse 40 feet away, occupied by the Joseeped in water in spots. Ditches were full.

New London had only a brief rain.

The rate of flow through the Appleton sewage treatment plant jumped from a normal 6,000,000 gallons to 20,000,000 gallons, hitting the peak rate about 9 o'clock.

Plant Supt. William Storm reports that despite the rated capacity of 13,000,000 gallons, gates of the plant were not opened to discharge raw sewage into the Fox river.

Director of Public Works Edwin J. Duszynski said his office, the street department and the sewage plant received only one call reporting a flooded basement. It was in the 2200 block of N. Clark street.

There were quite a few flooded intersections, Duszynski said, but that could be expected because storm units are not built to take such heavy cloudbursts in such a short time.

There also were reports of flooded basements in the downtown business section where no storm sewers exist. The sanitary sewer, built to handle sewage only, acts as a combination sewer.

Plane Flight
What appeared to be a North Central Airlines passenger plane headed south at relatively low altitude over Appleton shortly after 9 o'clock last night. The plane then circled and turned back toward the north.

North Central's terminal at Green Bay said all flights were completed out of Austin Straubel field last night, but some were delayed. A spokesman said no ship returned to the port, but the pilot of Flight 454, which left Green Bay at 8:50 p.m., probably changed his flight pattern to skirt bad weather in the Appleton area.

Lightning struck the transmitting station of WBAY-TV, seven miles southeast of Green Bay, burning some of the station equipment. The station went off the air at about 9:43 p.m. and resumed operation 36 minutes later after repairs were made.

The only Calumet county damage reported to the sheriff's office was a power pole down at Lake park.

Flooded Streets
Damage in Menasha was limited to a few flooded streets and basements, one or two trees blown down, and telephone and power lines torn down.

The water and light department was called to turners Point to put up a line to Seventh street to replace a service wire and to the Roy Van Harhome, 731 Manitowoc day.

New Stamp on Sale July 25

A new stamp, honoring Simon Bolivar, South American liberator, will go on sale at the Appleton post office July 25, Acting Postmaster Francis Sumnicht says.

The stamp, second in the postal department's champion of liberty series, comes in 8-cent and 4-cent denominations. The 8-cent stamp is red and the 4-cent stamp is blue.

Bolivar's likeness is portrayed on a medallion hanging from a red, white and blue ribbon.

First day covers can be obtained from the Washington, D. C. postmaster on July 24.

Spay Attended Talks For Information Only

Kenneth Spaay, Butte des Morts Heights, listed in Wednesday's Post-Crescent as attending a meeting at Appleton city hall on annexation west of the city, said today he is neither for nor against annexation. He was in the delegation talking to the board of public works for information only. He did not sign the petition for Mud Creek sewage treatment plant.

Three trees at the new Clover Elementary school site were destroyed by the storm.

The government locks in Menasha reported .88 of an inch. Neenah police and street crews reported no complaints of storm damage.

Circuits Out
Peak winds in Appleton occurred at 9:58, the Wisconsin Michigan Power company reported. One circuit was out of order at the substation serving the Darboy-Little Chicago area. The station after five poles blew over.

Lightning struck three times on the 34,500-volt transmission loop that serves the entire southern operating division, which includes most of Outagamie county. Service was restored by automatic equipment and power interruptions were very brief. Lightning also struck the Washington street substation at 6:34, but service was restored after five poles blew over.

High temperature in the Fox Cities Wednesday was 86 and the overnight low was 61. Temperature at 11 o'clock this morning was 70. The outlook for more possible showers today.

Bull Turns Tables on DePere Farmer

Green Bay — A bull about to be slaughtered turned the tables on a rural West De Pere farmer Tuesday and sent the farmer to the hospital with a .22 caliber slug in his abdomen.

Henry Thomson, Jr., 41, route 2, had put a sawed-off rifle to the bull's head in his slaughter house. The animal turned and hooked the gun with a horn, knocking it to the floor. It discharged, with the slug striking Thomson.

In another firearms accident Tuesday in Brown county, Roy Ness, 12, suffered a hand wound when a 12-gauge shotgun he and two brothers were playing with exploded while they were firing blanks. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Ness, route 1, Oneida.

Hearings Set on 3 Compensation Cases

Three workmen's compensation cases have been scheduled for hearing in Appleton city hall Aug. 7.

One involves Mrs. Hilda Foster, a cook at the Appleton city home. She suffered a leg fracture while in her room last December. She lived on the premises and principal question involved is whether the injury occurred while she was on duty. She is bringing the action against the city and its workmen's compensation carrier, Hardware Mutual Casualty company.

The Foster hearing is scheduled for 1:30 in the afternoon. At 9 o'clock in the morning is the action of Edward Van Den Heuvel vs. Skall's Colonial Wonder bar and at 11 o'clock is the case of Arden Walker vs. Thulmany Pulp and Paper company.

Democrats in 7th
District Plan Outing

The Seventh district Democratic party will hold a district meeting and family picnic for Wisconsin county, assembly and state senate candidates Sunday at the Bear Creek pavilion.

Kenneth Traeger, Gresham, Democratic candidate for congress, will attend the meeting and ask for campaign suggestions.

84th Division Will Receive Training Mission

Washington — The army's new plan to cut national guard strength by an estimated 40,000 men also will assign strictly training missions to 13 of the 23 reserve divisions, including the 84th of Wisconsin.

The remaining ten divisions will be organized and equipped to form the framework of combat divisions in time of national emergency.

The divisions earmarked for training duties will undergo a special reorganization so they can work in peacetime to meet their mobilization task of training individuals and smaller units in time of war. Details of the reorganization are to be announced later.

Historical Display Features Pictures Of Old Automobiles

Collectors' automobiles from grandma's day are illustrated in a historical display of photographs in the window of First National bank.

The display, compiled and circulated by the State Historical Society of Wisconsin shows autos from the first road steam engine built in 1769 through a 1925 Locomobile. Most of the cars pictured were owned or built by Wisconsin residents.

The photo collection will remain on display for about two weeks.

Join 'Em, Don't Fight, Traffic Violator Thinks

Indianapolis — If Raymond O'Donnell can't beat 'em, he'll join 'em. In the police station to pay three parking tickets he accumulated within the space of a few minutes, O'Donnell took time to file his application to join the force.

Gas Odor Reported

The odor of gas was reported in Progress Printing's building, 1306 N. Appleton street, about 1:50 Wednesday afternoon.

Firemen found floors of a nearby service station had been washed with gasoline and gasoline fumes had traveled along the sewer. The floor washers were warned by a fire inspection today.

David Anderson, Son of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Anderson, route 2, Neenah, is home on a 30-day leave after completing his first year at the Air Force academy at Denver, Colo. ## Air Force Cadet Home For Welcome 'Breather'

David Anderson Completes First Year Of Study at New Academy in Colorado

Greenville — Air Force Cadet David Anderson is taking a welcome 30-day "breather" from his studies at the new Air Force academy at Denver, Colo., where he has completed his first year.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Anderson, route 2, Neenah, arrived by plane from California June 22 and must report to a Texas air base for pilot training July 20.

The life of an air force cadet is a busy one explained Anderson. Reveille is at 6 o'clock in the morning followed by a day of classes, organized athletics and other training. Study sessions are held in the evening from 7:15 until 10 o'clock and 11 o'clock is the deadline for bed.

Social life for a fourthclassman, a first year cadet, also is greatly curtailed. Movies can be seen Saturday afternoon or evening and Sunday afternoons which also are available for dates.

David praised the food at the academy, but said eating was sometimes difficult for freshmen who are required to answer questions of upper classmen during meals. If a cadet fails to answer a question correctly, more are forthcoming and the cadet is likely to get up from the table nearly as hungry as he sat down. David admits he hasn't gained any weight at the academy, but he says it's worth it.

Life at the academy is much different from what the average American boy is used to. Cadets must be punctual at all times. Rooms must be kept neat and no drinking or smoking is allowed among first and second year cadets.

One of the things the young cadet likes best about the academy is the honor system. It is up to each cadet to refrain from lying, cheating, stealing or copying tests. Money can be left lying around without fear of anyone taking it, Anderson said.

Flew in Trainer

While he hasn't been able to fly alone yet, he did fly in a jet trainer last summer and has flown in a B-52 and experienced a mid-air refueling with a KC-135. While in California he visited the Strategic Air Command, Tactical Air command and the Air Defense command.

Anderson said there were 306 in his class at the start, but only 236 are left.

The new academy at Colorado Springs is about 90 percent complete and will be ready by Sept. 1. Then all cadets will live in one big dormitory which can house 2,400 cadets. The academy will have its first graduating class next year.

Classes in the fall for the young cadet will include history, English, mathematics, physics, navigation and physical education. He will be able to come for two weeks at Christmas time and the following summer plans to go to Europe and visit England, Germany, France and Spain.

Agency to Fight Discrimination

Newark, N. J. — The director of the state division against discrimination Wednesday announced an agreement with the Veterans Administration to assist in making the New Jersey anti-discrimination laws effective, he said.

The division has been conferring with officials of the building firm of William Levitt, which is starting a 15,000-home community in Burlington county. Levitt has said homes will not be sold to Negroes.

Should the division find discrimination on the part of the builder and the VA concur in the finding, the VA will refuse any more approvals to the builder until he demonstrates a willingness to comply with

Sokolsky Questions Permanence Of American Post-War Prosperity

BY GEORGE SOKOLSKY

Thomas D. Cabot, speaking on behalf of the Committee on Economic Development before the house Ways and Means Committee to extend the Trade Agreements Act, made this arbitrary statement which requires analysis because it has become so fashionable:

Sokolsky

"This economic advantage is very clear when we buy from abroad things we don't produce at all at home. But there is a decided economic advantage to buying from abroad those things which others can produce more efficiently — even though they could be produced at home — and selling abroad those things which we produce more efficiently."

The word "efficiently" covers a multitude of conditions which Cabot and others do not discuss. Does "efficiently" mean because the workers abroad are more competent, as Chinese women in Amoy and Swatow are in embroidering handkerchiefs and women's lingerie, or does efficiently mean that the goods can be produced more cheaply because wages are lower, hours are longer, taxes are less, and a subsidy is provided by a government or by the United States through its various aid organizations? What are the precise facts as regards each commodity in each market?

Auto Industry Situation
For instance, how is it possible for West German and Russian automobiles to invade South American markets at a time when the automobile industry in the United States has been hit by a recession? Are the automobiles of these other countries more efficiently made than ours, or are they able to sell them for a lower price or by barter because of government support as in West Germany, or because of the lack of price barrier as in the case of Soviet Russia?

Cabot says that our foreign trade policy has been viewed as an integral part of our foreign policy. If so, what economic means are devised to keep this nation at full employment? What methods are used to prevent plants from becoming obsolescent by disuse so that when we need them for our national existence, they are available?

It was possible for the United States to crash-program the manufacture of the atomic bomb because some 2,000 manufacturers were co-opted to join in this work. That was possible during the economic activity of war; what happens to such activity during a recession, with men laid off and the plant idle?

Loss at Market
If our foreign trade policy is a phase of our foreign policy, how could it be possible that we have been steadily losing our Latin American market? If foreign policy is to determine the course of our foreign trade should we not pour everything we have into the cultivation of our Latin American trade? There seems to be a gap between Cabot's description of policy and the actual course of events.

The gap is due to the assumption that the American post-war prosperity would last forever and that as the richest nation on earth, we can afford to be generous to friend and foe, to former friend and

Canadian Leaders Praise Eisenhower

Ottawa — (AP) — The speakers of Canada's two houses of parliament had praise and advice for President Eisenhower Wednesday.

Speaking after the president's address, Senate Speaker Mark Drouin said that while the United States must look to its national interests, its guardianship of the free world impels it "to have a constant regard for the hopes and the needs of the nations joined in alliance."

Commons Speaker Roland Michener said President Eisenhower's words had reassured Canadians.

"But more than that, they have rekindled in our hearts those ancient and enduring sentiments of friendship which have characterized our relations for most of the last century and a half," he said.

former foe. But are we the richest nation on earth? How is such richness measured?

The classical method would be our possession of gold reserves, not on deposit but owned by us absolutely. Perhaps a more current method for the measurement of richness would be full employment at high wages and reasonable hours. Whatever yardstick is used, the question still needs to be answered as to whether we are, in 1958, the richest nation on earth.

Give Away Program
Certainly Soviet Russia is challenging that claim and is entering upon a vast give-away program to prove that it too is rich. Like us, the Russians are giving away gold; like us, they have made foreign trade a phase of foreign policy.

Unlike us, they only move goods to those countries where it will specifically do their foreign policy some good. For instance, they need to restore diplomatic and commercial relations with Brazil so they negotiate to pick up Brazil's surplus coffee at barter prices where the margin is so wide that under their socialist system of state-produced goods, they can sell for any price that is politically helpful.

Neither high nor low tariffs will solve our economic problems. What we need is a reasoned grasp of our situation based not upon the idealism of Cordell Hull or the realism of Mark Hanna, but on what we specifically face in the year 1958 and in the immediate future.

Suggests Cut In U. S. Scholarships

Washington — (AP) — President Eisenhower Tuesday suggested a cut in the number of federal scholarships in the aid-to-education bill approved by the house education committee.

The bill would provide 18,000 to 23,000 a year. The administration originally proposed 10,000.

Eisenhower also suggested that scholarship stipends be restricted to students who not only show outstanding ability but need financial help to get a college education.

The president's views were given in a letter to Rep. Stuyvesant Wainwright (R-NY), a member of the house committee.

Wainwright had written Eisenhower that he thought the bill, while not perfect, closely followed the president's proposals for steps to keep the U.S. abreast of Soviet Russia in development of scientists and other technicians.

3 Countries Cite Harmony

Friendly Relations Called Stabilizer For E. Mediterranean

Brioni, Yugoslavia — (AP) — The foreign ministers of Yugoslavia, Greece and the United Arab Republic said Wednesday their countries' friendly relations will help stabilize the eastern Mediterranean.

The ministers issued a communique that mentioned neither Lebanon nor Cyprus, two trouble spots in the eastern Mediterranean.

Foreign Minister Kopa Popovic read the communique to reporters in the presence of Foreign Ministers Evangelos Averoff of Greece and Mahmoud Fawzi of the U.A.R. Averoff arrived yesterday at the Adriatic island of Brioni, where Yugoslavia's President Tito and U.A.R. President Nasser have been meeting.

The communique said the ministers' exchange of views respected "the different international positions of their three countries and took into account these positions."

Reporters were allowed to come to Brioni to see the ministers sign the communique but were allowed to ask no questions. Averoff left the foreign ministers' talks to keep separate appointments with Tito and Nasser. Informal sources said the Greek minister would not have formal discussions with them jointly but that the three would meet informally at a luncheon.

Week's Best Food Buys Are in Fresh Produce

Beef Prices Probably Will Not Come Down Before Fall; Peaches Good

As is usual during the summer months, the housewife shopping for food bargains will find them on fresh produce, rather than meat counters.

Beef prices probably will not go down until fall since the demand for it is great, particularly with the increased popularity in outdoor cooking and barbecuing.

California Elberta peaches will be the best fruit item in the next few weeks. Their quality is very good, and this year's harvest is expected to surpass last year's bumper crop. They are now selling in Appleton markets at two pounds for 39 cents or in 17-pound boxes for $1.89.

Strawberries, near the end of their season, are high at 39 cents a quart.

Good fruit buys now are Santa Rosa plums at two pounds for 39 cents, seedless green grapes at 23 to 25 cents a pound, nectarines at 29 to 39 cents a pound, Bing cherries at 25 to 39 cents a pound, pineapples at 29 cents each and red grapes at 29 cents a pound.

Melon prices are the same and still good — cantaloup at 29 cents and watermelons ranging from 89 to $1.09, depending upon the size of the melon. Good vegetable buys this week are radishes at 5 to 8 cents a bunch, peas in the pod at 20 to 29 cents a pound, lettuce at 19 cents a head, broccoli at 29 cents a bunch and cauliflower at 29 to 39 cents a head.

Better buys this week are carrots at two bunches for 29 cents, celery at 23 cents a bunch and red cabbage at two pounds for 15 cents. Green peppers at two for 19 cents, green beans at 25 to 29 cents a pound and corn at six ears for 49 cents are higher.

Hot house tomatoes are now 39 cents a pound. Other vegetable prices are leaf lettuce at two bunches for 19 cents, white onions at two pounds for 25 cents, cucumbers at 8 to 10 cents each and green onions at two bunches for 15 cents.

Poultry is still among the best protein buys, although even this is up slightly to 39 cents a pound for stewing chicken and 39 to 45 cents a pound for fryers.

Other meat prices show little variation from last week, and the only variations seen are slight increases, as in chuck pot roast at 49 cents a pound and porterhouse steak at $1.09 a pound.

Meats especially suited for outdoor barbecues and picnics are among the best of the generally high meat prices. Skinless wieners are now at 55 to 73 cents a pound, cube steak at 89, bratwurst at 65 to 69, sirloin steak at 89 to $1.09 and spare ribs at 63.

Ground meat prices are 89 cents a pound for round, chuck at 75 to 79, beef at 57 to 59 and pork at 45.

Roasts this week are at 63 cents a pound for shoulder roast, 75 to 89 for standing rib roast, 79 for boneless chuck roast, 85 to 95 for boneless rump roast, and 55 for pork loin roast.

Sugar cured picnic ham is a reasonably good buy at 55 cents a pound.

Other meat prices are leg of lamb at 79 to 89 cents a pound, round steak at 75 to 89, pork steak at 69, shoulder veal steak at 79, lamb steak at 79, center cut pork chops at 89, beef liver at 55 to 69 and calves liver at 75.

Large Grade A eggs are a rather good protein buy at 55 cents a dozen.

Russia Kept Busy Wooing Tiny Nations

BY THOMAS P. WHITNEY

New York — The Soviet government is paying lots of attention to small countries. No country seems too small to be undeserving of well planned Kremlin wooing.

Here are some of the things the Russians have been doing in recent weeks:

The king and queen of Nepal visited the Soviet Union. They were received with lavish hospitality, toured several Soviet cities, were entertained at official receptions where they met all the top Soviet leaders, and were given extensive publicity in the Soviet press.

Prince Prem Purachatra, a Thai scientist, was entertained by Soviet scientists. He gave some lectures on the history and culture of Thailand, traveled about the Soviet Union and received much publicity in the Soviet press. In honor of his visit one of his books was published in Russian translation.

Support for Iceland

The Soviet campaign to woo Iceland received a push with a trip to Russia by a group of delegates to the Icelandic parliament. At the same time the Soviet press supported Iceland on the important issue of definition of territorial waters.

Iceland insists on a 12-mile limit instead of the traditional 3-mile limit.

A parliamentary delegation from Cambodia was entertained in Moscow, then went to central Asia to be shown how the Soviet Union has developed economic resources.

A group of Norwegians representing the society "Norway-U.S.S.R." was entertained in Moscow and other Soviet cities. The Norwegians were told that Ibsen and Grieg are much appreciated in the Soviet Union.

Ethiopia's minister of trade and industry, accompanied by a group of government officials, arrived in Moscow a few days ago on the invitation of the Soviet ministry of foreign trade.

The attention paid by the Kremlin to small countries takes many different forms. Exchanges of delegations and visits are only one.

Such attention makes good political sense. Though small countries are often important strategically and politically, they are often neglected by the big powers. With them a little bit of attention goes a long way.

runnerup Marlene Timmers is paired against Jean Tubbs.

Entries for boys will close this week and pairings will be announced Monday. Entrants can sign up at the youth center bulletin board.

Peninsula Players

Farce 'See How They Run' Still Fresh and Funny

BY WILLIAM WEAVER

Fish Creek — The Peninsula Players romped through Philip King's farce, "See How They Run," Tuesday evening. It was a medium chilly Door county night and the middle of the post-Fourth of July slump, but neither of these circumstances seemed to curb the players' antics or moderate the audience's enjoyment.

We had expected to find that "See How They Run" had grown a little old and tired, but it seemed as fresh and funny as ever. There are few farces in which someone does not take off his trousers, a circumstance which somehow never fails to make the audience roar. In this play, trousers are removed right and left — and by clergymen of the Church of England!

The plot involves an American actress who has retired into marital felicity with one of the five clergymen on stage — three legitimate and two bogus. Also rather unexpectedly around is her former actor boyfriend stationed with the air force in Britain. Much of the hilarity and complication revolves around an old maid, "who touches liquor for the first time"; it might more accurately be said that she embraces it wholeheartedly. The last straw is an escaped Rus-

School Nationalization Turned Down in India

New Delhi, India — President Rajendra Prasad rejected yesterday an education bill approved by the communist legislative assembly of the state of Kerala. The bill would have nationalized the state's private schools, many of which are run by the Roman Catholic church and other minority groups.

President Prasad returned the bill to the assembly after India's supreme court reported some parts of the bill violated the rights of minority groups to establish schools of their choice. Prasad then sent the bill back to the state assembly suggesting several amendments. Under India's constitution he has the right to reject state measures affecting private property.

Non-Smokers' Sex Not Important in Cancer Incidence

London — Two American scientists said today lung cancer incidence among non-smokers is about the same for men as for women.

They discounted suggestions that the over-all higher lung cancer rate for men raised doubts about the connection between the disease and smoking.

The report was delivered to the Seventh International Cancer congress here by Dr. William Haenszel and Dr. Michael G. Shimkin, of the National Cancer Institute, Bethesda, Md.

The survey was based on studies of 158 women hospitalized with lung cancer. The finding was that women smokers were three times as liable as non-smoking women to catch the type of lung cancer known as epidermoid — undifferentiated. For the type of lung cancer labeled adenocarcinoma the relative risk worked out at 1.21 to 1 in favor of nonsmokers.

The survey estimated the lung cancer mortality rate for women non-smokers to be 3.9 per 100,000. Other surveys have given figures for mortality rates among men non-smokers varying from 3.3 to 7.9 per 100,000.

"The consolidated evidence suggests a modest excess risk for male non-smokers," the report said. It suggested that the excess was so small that sex could not account for the difference.

U. S. Calls Two Alleged Letters To U.S.S.R. Fakes

London — The U. S. embassy has denounced as fakes two more letters to the Soviet embassy purporting to reveal details of an American bomber crew's plan to drop an atomic bomb off Britain's North sea coast.

The Russians said yesterday one of the new letters attacking American nuclear defense plans came from the same writer who a week ago wrote that he would pilot the bomber.

This time, the Russians said, he wrote that the bomb would be dropped by July 12 and that "we hope this will be sufficient to show the western capitalist the terrible thing with which they are playing."

The writer of the second letter said he was a member of the bomber's crew, according to the Russians.

The Soviet embassy released only photo copies of the letters, refusing to let Scotland Yard examine the originals for clues. The Russians have conceded the letters probably are a hoax but publicized them nevertheless.

When the first letter was made public, the U. S. state department called them Soviet propaganda forgeries. An unemployed British farm worker who was discharged by the Royal Air force for mental instability said he wrote the first letter but later denied it.

Development of Taste For Foods Discussed

BY ANGELO PATRI

Mother and Aunt Edith were talking about the children. "They all eat well except Dicky. He refuses one thing or another. For one thing he won't even try to eat a snap bean. Try as I may, flavor them with things he likes such as bacon, but not a mouthful will he touch. It worries me."

just as there is for reading. Dicky is not ready for snap beans, maybe. Leave him alone and in time he will eat just as the others do. He won't be able to help it when he sees the others enjoying things. But first he will have to be ready."

"Oh, nonsense. Whoever heard of being ready for eating snap beans? If he is hungry he will eat. Hunger makes us ready to eat. But when is one of our children hungry? And you just can't starve him into eating green beans."

"No, you really can't. But I know about eating readiness because I went through it. You know I have a younger sister and brother? Well I couldn't eat tomatoes. The very smell of them turned me green. Those two soon found it out so they'd go to the garden, get a ripe, warm tomato, get some salt in one hand, the tomato in the other, and come dancing up to me saying, 'Edie can't eat tomatoes. Edie can't eat tomatoes.' They'd stand in front of me, smack their lips, and eat the tomato with such evident enjoyment that I longed to be able to do it too."

"I was so jealous of their enjoyment of tomatoes that I made up my mind I'd learn to eat them if it killed me. When nobody was looking I'd get a tomato, some salt and try. I had to try for a long time but the summer after my tormentors had pushed me into trying I ate tomatoes with the best of them and have ever since. I'm sure there is a readiness of learning to eat things."

"It could be. You know I was married before I learned to eat egg plant. Now I like it. But I admit it took some doing. Maybe you're right about Dicky and the green beans."

It might well be that some children are not ready for some kinds of food. Why not skip them for the time being and give them something equally nourishing that they are willing to eat?

A Lovelier You

By Mary Sue Miller

Beat the Heat With Fragrance

When the thermometer flirts to lower your body temperature.

With 90, try beating the heat with splashes of spicy cologne. Its clean fragrance gives an immediate sense of relief. Its evaporating alcohol actually cools your skin and that helps

If you slather cologne on the entire body after a bath and let it air-dry, you will feel positively frosty for hours. But you can get a refreshing lift at any time from patting cologne on your temples, throat and wrists. When sleep eludes you on hot night, moisten a handkerchief with cold water and cologne, and compress it to your forehead. Works like a lullaby!

To double effects, keep your cologne in the refrigerator. And do carry a flask in your purse as a "security" measure. Remember, too, that along with cooling properties, a bottle of cologne offers feminine assurance and appeal—to the last drop.

Culbertson on Bridge

By Ely Culbertson
BRIDGE — Thursday July 10 American bidding methods — and this means the methods employed by all well-known American experts, irrespective of the particular school to which they belong — are in urgent need of overhauling. There is simply too much disparity between the contracts that should be reached and those that are reached. Here is a striking (but by no means unique) example:

South, dealer.		Both sides vulnerable.
NORTH		EAST
S-Q J 9 7		S-A 4 2
H-Q 6		H-10 8 7 2
D-K Q 6 4		D-9 5 3
C-A 5 3		C-K Q 8 7
WEST		EAST
S-5		S-A K 10 8 6 3
H-K J 9 4 3		H-A 5
D-10 7		D-A J 8 2
C-J 10 9 6 2		C-4

This deal occurred in a team match, and the bidding went step-by-step the same at both tables, as follows:

South	West	North	East
1 S	Pass	3 S	Pass
4 D	Pass	5 C	Pass
5 H	Pass	6 D	Pass
6 S	Pass	Pass	Pass

There was not the slightest difficulty, of course, in fulfilling the sixspade contract, but neither was there any ground for full satisfaction, because both North-South pairs had missed out on the equally easy-to-make grand slam at diamonds. (With diamonds trump, South has only to ruff one club in his own hand, and he then makes four tricks in diamonds, six in spades, the heart ace and the club ace, and that club ruff.) The big question is, however: Can North-South get to a seven-diamond contract? And the answer is: Not unless we (and this "we" means all of us, including the writers of this column) reappraise the bidding ideas by which we live. The fact is that with North double-raising spades on, or first round, any diamond bidding that takes place thereafter, by either or both partners, will have no practical effect in bringing about a diamond contract, because North will inevitably read a diamond call by South as a mere cue bid, showing control but not a suit, and South will read diamond support by North in the same light, as showing second-round control, but not a suit. There is no swift and easy cure for such dilemmas, but it may well be that we are somewhat too preoccupied with cue-bidding. This is at least a thought.

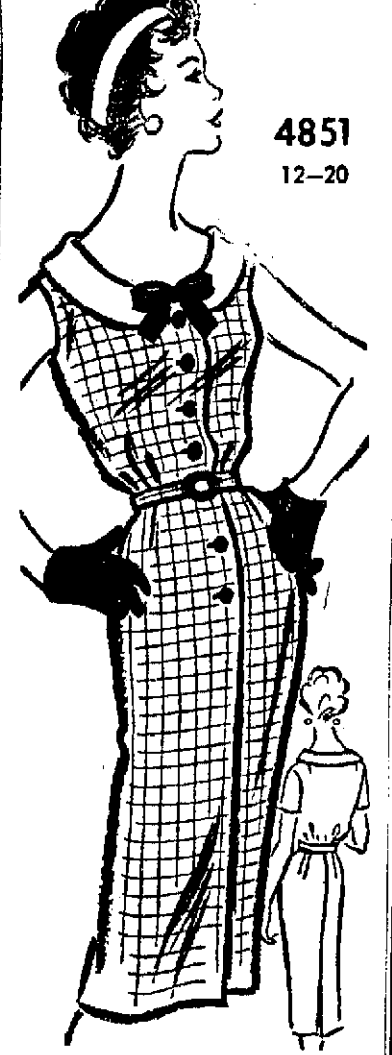

This schedule will be followed Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday. On Thursday, however, campers will assemble at 1:45 at the school stops and will not leave the camp until 7:30 in the evening.

Thursday's program each week will feature an evening meal at the camp, followed by a campfire, which parents will attend from 7 to 8 o'clock. Day camping program will include luncheon cookouts, with one item each day to be prepared by the girls at the camp.

Camp Staffers, Aids
Staffers for the coming week are the Misses Arnold Coenen, Warner Utschig, Bernard Van Eperen, Ralph Chamberlain and Francis Werner, all of Appleton; Joseph Van Drasek, Kaukauna; and Syl Kieffer and Harold Versteegen, Little Chute. Mrs. Versteegen will also be in charge of the first aid program. Senior scouts assisting as program aids will include Carol Laughlin, Benita Weiss, Jane Owkings, Lynn LeDuc, Mary Ann Arndt and Betty Jane Bradford, all of Appleton, and Jackie and Jane Hietpas, Little Chute.

Mrs. Ed Ryan, Kaukauna, is camp director, and Mrs. Leo Butler, Appleton, will be her assistant during the first camp week. Future campers during the summer will include girls from Seymour, July 21-25, and Aug. 11-15, Fox Cities residents, July 28-Aug. 1, a delegation similar to the girls attending the opening week, and Omro residents, Aug. 4-8.

In Good Taste Tact Needed To Combat Bad Gossip

BY EMILY POST
Dear Mrs. Post: I've been the victim of malicious gossip started by a woman whom I thought was a friend. What am I supposed to do? Take her actions sitting back quietly, or shall I go to her and have what is commonly called a "show-down."

Answer: Taking it for granted that the gossip is unfounded, it could do no harm, and might do good, to make an appointment to see this person if you can be sure of telling her very calmly, very good temperedly that you have heard that someone has told her something about you that is not true and you would like to straighten it out. Instead of believing her guilty of making up a malicious story or wilfully putting a quite wrong construction on something she has heard, it is a much better approach to take it for granted that someone has unwittingly given her false information.

Asking For Loan
Dear Mrs. Post: I loaned a friend money many months ago. There was no written agreement to pay. At the present time I need this money very much — in fact I don't know how I'm going to manage without it. How can I go about reminding my friend so as not to hurt her? I believe she is able to repay it now, and it may even be that she has actually forgotten about it. Answer: Just say, "I hate to have to ask you, but at the present time I am in great need of the money you borrowed, and I hope you can pay it."

All Men Not Rats, Some Can Be Called Skunks, Says Ann

BY ANN LANDERS
DEAR ANN: I married too young (17) and didn't know what it was all about. My husband and I fought like cats and dogs. Instead of trying to get to the bottom of the trouble and work things out, I divorced him. Two years later I married a real devil. My first husband was a gem compared to this one. I couldn't figure out what was happening to my clothes. They kept disappearing. One day I found out he was selling them. When he broke my little boy's arm in a fit of temper I threw him out of the house and divorced him. Now my sons are 9 and 11 years of age. My first husband has always supported them and he never has missed a Sunday or a holiday to take them out. When he heard about me breaking up with my husband he asked me to remarry him. The kids are all for it. My mother says all men are rats. What do you say? — MRS. UNDE-CIDED

Date your first husband for several months and get reacquainted. If you get along well together, remarriage could be a good thing.

week (drove her to work, took her to lunch and drove her home) and she says she's not nutty over this fellow, but he is kind and considerate and they will have a good life together. I have a hunch her folks are pushing it because he is very substantial. Get it? What shall I do? — BROKEN HEARTED BILL

Sorry, Bub, the days of abducting the bride are over. There's nothing you can do but bow out gracefully and stop making a pest of yourself. You've made it plain you're available and if this girl were sufficiently interested, she'd give the other guy the air. There's nothing wrong with marrying a fellow who is "Substantial" (yeah, I get it) so long as he has the other qualities you mentioned.

DEAR ANN: I'm a man past 50 who has owned my own business for many years. Business has been bad and I may have to close up if I don't find a buyer.

For the past 15 years my married daughter and her family have been living in a house I own. I never asked them for rent. I paid all the taxes and even took care of the repairs and upkeep.

Now that I'm in a bad financial spot I've asked them to please pay rent. They said as long as they have to pay, they'd rather move out and apply the money on a home of their own. I feel hurt about this. Do you think I've been a chump? — UNAPPRECIATED

Frankly — yes. Fifteen years of free rent, while you paid the taxes and upkeep? Such a "favor" undoubtedly produced feelings of contempt along with "gratitude." This is how acts of "kindness" can work in reverse. When you permit people to mooch (and mooching it was) you rob them of their self-respect.

You were foolish to make such an offer, and they should never have accepted it. How true the words, "sharper than a serpent's tooth is the tongue of a thankless child."

Cast Members of Attic Theater's "The Solid Gold Cadillac" donned costumes Wednesday for dress rehearsal. In this scene, Henry Ashauer, left, and Urban Van Susteren, right, cast as board of directors officials, dodge a news cameraman to avoid being photographed. Mrs. Joan Hoffmann is at center. James Auer, Menasha, is the photographer. "Solid Gold Cadillac" will open Attic theater's summer season at 8:15 Saturday evening in the Jefferson school gymnasium, with performances to continue July 13, 14, 19, 20, and 21. Season tickets are available at Belling pharmacy. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Rehearsed in Attic

Attic Theater Born to Give Young People Something to Do

BY BETSY DAVIS
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

A group of high school students with nothing to do brought the start of Appleton's Attic theater.

"It began right here in our living room," recalls Mrs. F. Theodore Cloak, the community group's director. Several high school seniors, friends of the Cloaks' daughter Andy Lou, were complaining about the lack of activity during the summer. Mrs. Cloak says. It was their idea to initiate a summer theater in Appleton under direction of the Cloaks.

It wasn't long before a modest 2-column advertisement in the Post-Crescent invited interested townspeople to join the budding theater movement. By March, 1950, with a nucleus of 22 people, the Attic theater was underway.

Entering Ninth Season

Since that time, the group has presented 31 plays in eight summer seasons. Its workers have expanded from the original 22 to over 100. It will open its ninth season at the Jefferson school gymnasium Saturday with "The Solid Gold Cadillac."

"We started as a class in acting," Mrs. Cloak says, "with rehearsals after class every evening to give us a chance to try out what we learned." As summer performance time came nearer, the Thespians set up the now-familiar arena style theater at Knights of Pythias hall.

cream for the fledgling theater. Problems did arise, and often they called for considerable ingenuity.

In "Noah", a first-night audience was kept in the lobby for a few minutes while Noah himself hastily finished painting his ark.

In "Room Service", a props committee searched for weeks for a needed mousehead before the Royal Order of Moose came to the rescue.

In "Bell, Book and Candle", it was a runaway cast member — the cat.

But a more serious problem arose from the polio epidemic

In 1955. Audiences were halved during the seige, and attendance has not yet regained its pre-epidemic levels.

Then there were the continual problems of casting. During the first season the Cloaks were able to select plays with cast members in mind. But since then, the list of available actors has never been complete before the season's presentations were chosen.

"We're sometimes short on character actors," says Mrs. Cloak, "but someone always turns up to fill the part."

Balance Watchword

Balance has been the amateur thespians' watchword in selecting each season's plays. There's a constant demand from many people for light comedies, the Cloaks say. But it's the shows with some intellectual base that are usually best liked.

Attendance figures bear them out. The largest single audience 325 people — turned out in the 1952 season to see "Madwoman of Chaillo", a play with more than its share of exercise for the mind.

"As audiences grew, the group moved in their second season from KP hall to the Jefferson school gymnasium and saved their pennies for a long-desired air conditioning unit for the gym-turned-theater."

Winter Work

Eight seasons of summer performance don't tell the whole story of Attic theater. The performers have utilized their off-season time in productions for community organizations, including the Community Fund, the Mental Health association and Lawrence United Charities.

Another step toward year-round activity was taken in 1956, when the group produced its pioneer winter offering "Elizabeth the Queen."

Future plans involve more winter productions.

Enjoy Theater Work

Eight seasons with the Attic theater have left the Cloaks quietly enthusiastic about the amateur theater venture.

"It provides something to do as well as entertainment for the community," says Cloak. Mrs. Cloak adds, "I would rather see a well directed and well prepared amateur show than the standard road company."

This season's bill of fare will include "The Solid Gold Cadillac," to open Saturday evening; "White Sheep of the Family," "Angel Street, and "Summer and Smoke." All will be presented six times, on Saturday,

Red Cross to Start Program At Sanatorium

The Outagamie County Red Cross is seeking volunteers and initiating its Gray Ladies program at Riverview sanatorium, according to Mrs. Warren Gillette, chairman of volunteers.

The Gray Ladies will work in the sanatorium's infirmary, the wing set aside in the Spring for the aged, and not with patients with tuberculosis.

The Gray Ladies and Gray Men's programs at Winnebago State hospital and the volunteer program at Morgan school will be enlarged with more volunteers.

Morgan school volunteers work on handicraft with orthopedic children and work in the library with the children. Gray Men now spend two evenings a month at the state hospital.

An orientation program for Gray Ladies will be held in September, followed by institutional training.

Volunteers may contact the Red Cross office.

Sunday and Monday evenings for two weeks, with curtain time at 8:15. Season tickets can be purchased at Belling Pharmacy.

Boys Brigade Expands Camp Water Program

Six Canoes Bought Through Sale of Christmas Wreaths

Neenah — An extensive waterfront program is being planned for the Boys Brigade camp sessions this summer as the result of gifts and loans to the Brigade and the sale of Christmas wreaths by members over the last two years.

A boat company is loaning a boat powered by two 35-horsepower motors to the camp and an oil company has donated 500 gallons of gasoline and about 30 gallons of oil to operate the boats.

Through the sale of Christmas wreaths the Brigade has been able to purchase six canoes whereas formerly they had to rent the canoes. It also has purchased an aluminum "log," 20 feet long and two feet in diameter to use in a log rolling method.

Water Skiing The loan of the boat and the gift of the gasoline will mean more water skiing can be offered this year and instruction in that sport will be offered.

Through purchase of the canoes every boy at the older boys camp from July 19 to 26 will be able to take the Crystal river trip through water falls and rapids which formerly was available only to the high school boys. This trip is an all-afternoon program.

It also makes possible other canoe trips and canoe tilting contests.

Union Group Lauds Cities for Aid to UW Extension Center

Labor Council Delegates Hear Report Criticizing 'Right-to-Work' Law Proposal

Menasha — Appreciation to the Menasha city officials for their devoted time and effort in securing the University of Wisconsin extension center for another year, and to the various city councils for supplying financial aid to the project was voted by the Neenah-Menasha Labor council at its meeting Tuesday night.

The Labor council also reviewed its recent labor-management dinner and decided to continue the previous plan for another year, having labor arrange for its speaker and management for its speaker at the dinner.

Raymond Beatty of Local 531 chairman of the rehabilitation committee, reported on the progress made to date and said another meeting of the committee would be held soon.

Constitution Meeting

A large delegation from the various union locals will be attending the first constitutional convention of the AFL-CIO at Milwaukee auditorium July 23 to 26.

Rufin Skiba, Labor council secretary and its legislative representative, discussing the "right-to-work" law proposal, stressed that a "nation's democracy which is not based on a free labor movement is neither genuine nor stable."

He called the "right-to-work" laws a threat to free labor and a fraud and misnomer "to conceal their true purposes, the undermining of one of the strongest pillars of American democracy. Further 'right-to-work' laws tend to disrupt collective bargaining because they would force union leaders to concentrate on survival and thus tend to foster a spirit of class warfare."

Such laws, Skiba said, sanction injustice and encourage selfishness, because they legalize the injustice of the "free loaders" who, in refusing to join the union which represents them, are in substance refusing to pay the fair share of the costs of representation.

'Morally Justified' "The moral question in the issue of the union shop is what social values are obtained in return for the compulsions

The new dormitory, which will house 200 men, will be located east of the present union building which now is under construction. It is expected to be completed by the fall of 1960.

Construction of the new $700,000 student union is expected to be completed in time for the 1959 fall semester, according to Pres. Forrest R. Polk who is scheduled to retire in 1959. The old gym now serves as a student union.

Lewis C. Magnusen, Oshkosh attorney, was reelected vice president of the board of regents at the meeting. The regents also granted 3 1/2 per cent salary increases to college faculty members, averaging $225 per member, and allocated 41 more faculty positions. The increases are part of a $12 million budget approved for operating the 10 state colleges for the 1958-59 school year. The colleges are expected to handle an enrollment of 13,692 students with an enrollment increase among freshmen of 32 per cent over last year.

Action was postponed on the request of the Oshkosh State college to offer a major in physical education for men and women teachers. The college now offers a minor in that field.

It also requires all of the workers in a shop to assume some degree of mutual responsibility for the standards of performance, condition of work and quality of service."
He charged that the chambers of commerce and National Association of Manufacturers, in backing the "right-to-work" laws, are interested not in the cost of the individual's union dues but rather in weakening the labor movement, "thereby giving the employer a free hand as to how and under what conditions the workers will perform their duties. Certainly, the worker will not be given a better working condition or wage increase if he does not belong to a labor union."

225 Girls Attend Modeling School

Oshkosh — The three P's of modeling - posture, poise and personality - were discussed and demonstrated for the 225 county 4-H club members attending a modeling school Wednesday afternoon at the Winneconne Central school. Mrs. Jeanette Thomas, assistant home agent, conducted the session as a preparation for the annual style show, scheduled for July 24 at the Winneconne school.

Mrs. Thomas demonstrated a modeling carriage, pointing out shoulders should be up, but not frigid, and arms should be relaxed at the sides, not swinging. In discussing personality, the assistant home agent said many girls leave their perky personalities at home and don't project themselves while modeling.

"When in doubt, leave it off," said Mrs. Thomas referring to accessories appropriate to the costumes being modeled. She gave the rule of having two accessories, hat and gloves, or purse and shoes, of the same color tone or all matching accessories. No one accessory should be isolated in color, she explained. The appropriateness of the accessory to the costume, such as wearing tennis shoes rather than "dressy" flats with sportswear, also was discussed. She emphasized jewelry should be kept at a minimum.

A Complete Line of the Season's Best Fruits and Vegetables!

Beautiful and Flavor Exciting as a master chef's creation is this tomato accordion filled with anchovy-zested cottage cheese.

Tricks With Tomatoes

Old 'Pomme d'Armour' Still Popular Vegetable

In Louis XIII's France the tomato was called "pomme d'amour" (love apple) and thought to possess luring magic. Today we agree essentially with the 16th century French about the tomato. It is a love of a vegetable, and the apple of the good cook's eye because it has appetite tempting powers aplenty.

The tomato's rich redness and uniquely delicious flavor make it — sliced and served simply with a dash of dressing, or fresh lemon juice — a salad in itself. The clever homemaker also uses the beautiful vegetable as basis for many eye and palate appealing salad combinations.

Take, for example, Anchovy Cheese Tomato Accordions. In this attractive red and white striped creation, firm fresh tomatoes, slit from front to back, are filled with a piquant mixture of cottage cheese, anchovies and chopped onion. Another salad that looks and tastes as if it were the handiwork of a master chef is Curried Potato Stuffed Tomatoes in which scooped-out whole tomatoes form chalices for diced cooked potatoes mixed with green peppers, onions and curry powder.

One medium-sized tomato supplies almost one-half the vitamin C and about one-third of the vitamin A recommended as the daily quota, and contains vitamin B-1, calcium, phosphorus and iron. Although the tomato contains only about one per cent protein it has 16 of the 18 most frequently occurring amino acids, and some of all of the eight essential amino acids. Small wonder that America's love of the "love apple" has made it our country's second most valuable vegetable crop. (It's topped only by potatoes.)

Tomato Accordions

4 firm fresh tomatoes
8-ounce package cottage cheese
4 tablespoons anchovies, chopped
1 cup diced celery
1 teaspoon finely chopped onion
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon ground black pepper

Head lettuce
Whole anchovies for garnish (optional)
Mayonnaise

Wash tomatoes and cut off a thin slice from the stem end. Stand upright on cut end and make four deep slits with a sharp knife, from front to back. Combine next six ingredients and fill slits with cheese mixture. Arrange on lettuce. If desired, garnish with whole anchovies. Serve with mayonnaise.

Stuffed Tomatoes

4 medium firm fresh tomatoes
1 cup cooked fresh snap beans
1 cup grated carrot
1 cup diced cucumbers
1 cup shredded sharp American cheese
3 strips crisp bacon, crumbled
1 tablespoon finely chopped onion
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon ground black pepper
1 tablespoon mayonnaise

Workmen Spare Killdeer Nest at K-C Parking Lot

Neenah — Two killdeer have turned up their long "noses" at Kimberly-Clark corporation's beautifully landscaped lawns stretching down to the shore of Little Lake Butte des Morts. They apparently had no interest either in the area north of the headquarters' building which has been left in its natural state as a sanctuary for birds and small animals.

They laid their eggs in a narrow stretch of grass and gravel between the headquarters' and mill parking lots that provide stalls for over 700 cars. The movement of the cars in and out of the parking lots fails to bother the bird couple.

But when workmen showed up with tractors and graders for a leveling off job on the mill parking lot, the birds kicked up a vocal fuss. They tried the old "dragging the wing" tactics to lure the workers away from the nest.

But now Mr. and Mrs. Killdeer are happy. The mill employees on the grading job enclosed the rather crude nest with rocks. The killdeers have gone back to egg-sitting.

Rains Help Manitowoc Score 6-4 Loop Win Over Mac Nine

Menashans Get Deadlock in 8th; Deluge Cancels 2 Runs

Manitowoc — A downpour in the top of the eighth inning washed out two Menasha Mac runs as they dropped a 6-4 decision to Manitowoc in the second half opener for both squads here Wednesday night.

Manitowoc led 6-4 at the end of the seventh inning but the Macs came up with a pair in the top of the eighth to deadlock the issue. While they were still at bat, the rains came, the game was called by the umpires and the score reverted back to the seventh, giving Manitowoc the triumph.

Lights Go Out

Thus the Menashans started second half play exactly as they did in the first. Manitowoc edged them but they went on to cop their next eight, straight to wind up with the undisputed crown.

The game was eventful even before the final deluge. Rain halted proceedings for a while in the seventh inning and back in the fifth the tilt was held up

Ray Dietz's single brought home the winning run. Dean Schreiner was the winning pitcher and Jim Rueckl, the loser. Dick Schutkoski had two hits for the victors.

Shirley Pavich Hurls No-Hitter As 'Rec' Tops K-C

Menasha — Shirley Pavich pitched a no-hitter as the Menasha Recreation Girls softball team blanked Kimberly-Clark 15-0 Wednesday night. The winners had nine hits off Kay Pruitt.

The "Rec" committed two errors and the losers had three misplays. Sandra Lornson and Shirley Pavich cracked home runs for the winners.

The girls will have a practice game next Monday and play Neenah Foundry next Wednesday night at Washington park. A Marinette team will be here July 20 for a game against the girls.

The Recreation team now has an overall record of 7-2, including 2-1 in Fox Valley league play. Both losses were Kaukauna, one in the league to and the other in a practice tilt.

Bill Lutz, former Menasha Mac hurler, defeated his former mates, although the Twin Cities bombed him out in the seventh when they scored all of their runs. John Strzyzewski, the league's top pitcher in the first round, finished the inning and worked the eighth.

Lutz, in 6 1-3 innings, gave up five hits, four runs, struck out nine, walked six and hit one. Starter Gene Gries, who worked the first four innings, was the loser. He gave five runs, four hits, walked two and struck out three.

Vic Stenson pitched the fifth and sixth and allowed a run, two hits, and walked one and Mort Drury hurled the seventh, walked one and had one strike-out to his credit.

Get 3 in 1st

Manitowoc scored three times in the first inning on singles by Pat McGlinn, Al Siebold and Bob Scherer, a sacrifice, a wild pitch and two errors.

The hosts added a pair in the second on a walk. Bill Nelson's triple and a wild pitch and scored one in the sixth on McGlinn's single, a hit batsman, a fielder's choice and a delayed double steal.

The Macs were blanked until the seventh. Then Don Gosz and John DeYoung walked and Darold Eggert singled, scoring Gosz. An error allowed DeYoung to tally and Clem Massey singled home Eggert.

Crack 2 Doubles

Strzyzewski replaced Lutz and Massey later scored on "Bud" Koehnke's sacrifice fly.

The non-counting eighth included an error and doubles by Gosz and Ron Bunkelman. Drury was at the plate when the rains interfered.

McGlinn's two hits led Manitowoc while Koehnke had two of the five gleaned by the Macs off the two Manitowoc mounds-men.

115 Employees Recognized by K-C Magazine

Special Tribute Given to Firm's Public Servants

Neenah — One hundred and fifteen Kimberly-Clark employees who are "public servants" in United States plant communities, are honored in the current issue of the corporation's employee magazine.

They are working in elective or appointive jobs in their township, village or city governments. "Together they have a part in the handling of budgets that run into many millions of dollars," the article said.

Sixteen of the employees are village trustees, 12 are city aldermen, 12 are supervisors from their communities to county boards, 11 are active in township school organization, 10 are members of city school boards, 10 are members of water boards or commissions.

There are men who serve as justices of peace, on planning commissions, as town clerks, town treasurers, town building inspectors, health officers, electric inspectors, plumbing inspectors. Others serve on adult and vocational school board on planning commissions, recreation commissions, library boards, police and fire commissions.

The employee magazine sent questionnaires to employees who

Work Begins on Road Extension

Neenah — Work began Tuesday on the extension of John street north to serve the rear of the Hardwood Products corporation and Paper Ruling Service company properties.

The road now is being excavated and will receive a crushed stone base. It will be oiled later. The land for the street has been deeded to the city by the two companies.

The road will serve those two companies' employees and will relieve traffic on N. Lake street, Wayne G. Bryan, public works director, indicated.

The curb and gutter crews have finished on Monroe from Henry to Isabella streets, Adams from Isabella to Church streets and Maple street from Laudan boulevard to Division street.

The streets now will be regraded and rebuilt with a black-top pad being added later.

serve on these jobs. Among other things, it asked why they were giving time and effort to these jobs which many of them said take from 2 to 40 hours a month, and which often "appear to be thankless."

Those questioned urged others to participate in their community governments but warned them not to do so unless prepared to make sacrifices of services and time. Unanimous in their belief that there is real need for greater interest by the public in government, a need for people willing to serve even on unpaid civilian committees, the Kimberly-Clark group said "the 'let George do it' attitude actually permits things to happen about which citizens complain."

Yanks, Tigers Cop Decisions In Neenah Jr. Baseball Loop

Neenah — The Yankees registered their seventh Junior league win in eight starts by toppling the Indians 10-5 Wednesday at Washington park.

The winners scored half of their runs in the third inning on five hits. Ricky Getschow and Dan Murphy held the losers to five hits, two each by Tom Ebben, the losing pitcher, and Ricky Staffeld.

The Yanks had 12 hits, three by Dick Diedrich and Bob Larson and two by Getschow. Diedrich hit two triples. The Indians have five losses.

The Tigers won their fourth game in six outings with an 11-9 triumph over the White Sox. The Tigers scored four runs in the second and third frames and three in the fourth.

Jim Sauby and Dan Zehner each had two hits for the Tigers. Mory Handler and Tom Hensen stopped the Sox with four hits, two by Winn Zimmerman, including a triple. The White Sox record is now 2-5.

Up Record to 4-1
Dick Kuehl pitched a no-hitter and struck out 15 as the Boilermakers defeated the Foxes 9-2 in the Grade Baseball league. The Foxes scored twice in the third frame, aided by two walks and a hit batsman.

The Boilermakers, who now have a 4-1 record, scored four runs in the third and fifth. Pete Neubauer and Dick Rooch each had two hits, including a double apiece. Ed Began hit a triple. Bill Julius was the losing pitcher. The Foxes now have 2-3.

The Spartans rolled over the Gophers 16-1 in another Grade league fracas. Doug Angell pitched a three-hitter. The winners made nine hits off two Gopher pitchers.

Mike Boyd led the winners with three hits. Dave Fischer doubled for the losers, who now have a 1-4 record.

Wards 8-10 tumbled Wards 1-9 by a 20-3 score in the Midget Softball league.

The winners had 12 hits, four by Rick Kitchell and two each by Ken George, Jim Olson and Bill Dowling. Kitchell had two doubles. Robert Brockman had two of the three hits off Kitchell, the winner. Bill Kruschka was the losing pitcher.

Persuasion Topic of New Library Book

Menasha — Perhaps no activity is more common in our lives than persuading, or attempting to persuade, others to our own point of view. Wayne Minnick's new book "The Art of Persuasion," recently added to the Elisha D. Smith Public library shelves, fosters this activity.

According to Librarian Marvin Melick, Minnick's book analyzes into its essential factors persuasion, the most useful decision-making tool of our democratic society. He deals with the psychology of attention getting, communication, conversion of thought to action, the role of emotion and the ethics of persuasion.

Other new non-fiction include Gavin Maxwell's "People of the Reeds," a journey through an almost unknown land, the lower reaches of the Tigris in southern Iraq. Huston Smith interprets how the great religious traditions answer the spiritual aspirations of the different peoples of the world in his "The Religions of Man."

Sea Story
An extraordinary sea story of the Japanese fishing boat whose crew were the first victims of the super bomb is told in "The Voyage of the Lucky Dragon," Dame Edith Sitwell's "English Eccentrics" contains witty, wry and pungent portraits of characters who could afford to be different.

Also of note are "The Theodore Roosevelt Treasury" edited by Hermann Hagedorn, "Exotic Plants of the World" by Marcel Belvianes and the "1958 Official Baseball Annual."

Certain to be a popular medical novel is Frank Slaughter's "Daybreak" which deals with a young doctor's pioneering in the treatment of the hopelessly insane. "Giddy Moment" by Ernestine Carey is a comedy based on a lipstick that makes women irresistible.

Other novels are "The Stalked Plain" by Frank Tolbert, "A Note of Grace" by Betty Singleton, "The Ten Thousand Things" by Maria Dermout, "Jephtha and His Daughter" by Leon Feuchtwanger, "The Invincibles" by Carter Vaughan, and "The Pendulum" by Richard Marks.

Hearing Set on Golf Course Dams

Neenah — The state public service commission has scheduled a new hearing on the application of R. C. Bridges, operator of the Bridgewood Golf course at Neenah, for a permit to maintain two dams on the Neenah slough.

The hearing will be at 1:30 the afternoon of Aug. 4 at the courthouse at Oshkosh.

The commission previously denied Bridges' request but then scheduled a new hearing. The dams already are in place at the golf course.

Neenah Alderman Hurt In Plant Accident

Neenah — Ewald Miller, a Badger-Globe millwright and second ward alderman, was taken to Theda Clark hospital in the Neenah ambulance after a construction accident this morning at the mill. He was unconscious when taken to the hospital and the extent of his injuries was not disclosed.

'Music Man' High on List of New Books at Neenah Library

Neenah — The brightest musical comedy to hit Broadway since "South Pacific," or at least since "My Fair Lady," is "The Music Man," which is now available in book form at the Neenah Public library.

For the thousands unable to see the real thing in New York, the book may provide several happy hours. Meredith Willson's story of a musical charlatan unfolds in a small Iowa town to the tune of "Lida Rose" and "76 Trombones."

Perhaps the best background music for reading the play is the "Music Man" long-play album. Another new book at the library, by David Fidelman, tells how to get the best out of this record, or any other, on a high fidelity system.

Another "music man" is Lawrence Welk, topic of Mrs. Mary Lewis Coakley's "Mister Music Maker." This new book tells how the popular band leader er came from a North Dakota farm into the homes of about 50 million television fans.

Another kind of music is discussed in the "World Treasury of Grand Opera," edited by George Marek, vice president and general manager of the record division of RCA Victor.

Other new books at the library include "Gulbenkian" by John Lodwick, the story of Calouste Sarkis Gulbenkian who, until his death in 1955, could claim to be the richest man in the world. The story of Casey Stengel, who has been in baseball nearly half a century and has won eight American league pennants and six world championships in the last nine years, is told by Frank Graham, Jr. The three days of the battle of Gettysburg are related in detail in Clifford Dowdey's "Death of a Nation." Dowdey is an authority on Gen. Robert E. Lee's Army of Northern Virginia. Mrs. Jefferson Davis, "The First Lady of the South," is the topic of Isabel Ross' new volume, which is also available at the library.

White Sees Evil in Congress Hearings

Like Adams-Goldfine Hearing, All Lack Court Dignity, Protection

BY WILLIAM S. WHITE

Washington — Congressional investigations, with few exceptions in memory, are fated to an almost inevitable cheapness and sordidness. This is now being illustrated in the house committee's inquiry into matters running from A to G—that is, from Sherman Adams to Bernard Goldfine.

White

A congressional hearing room is not a courtroom and can never be. But the very absence of the restraints of a proper court proceeding often creates a vulgar parody of a trial. For the congressional committee will sit simultaneously as grand jury, prosecutor, judge and trial jury—with some of the functions of defense counsel, too, being loudly and ineptly exercised by a few of the members.

No presiding officer, however able and determined, can always keep order and maintain fair play. There is no judge here with remote and absolute authority. There is only a chairman doing the best—or sometimes the worst—he can.

Better Than Most

The "Adams-Goldfine committee" is far from a horrible example. It is an unusually responsible group as congressional investigators go. Its chairman, Representative Oren Harris of Arkansas, is a fair-minded and leading member of the house. A first-rate man as a person, he is highly respected by those who know him best, his own colleagues.

Thus here is a congressional investigating unit that is considerably better than most, and one with a chairman who is very much better than most.

Nevertheless, once Harris puts an end to one kind of error, or silliness, or unfairness, another pops up. Not long ago he had to clean up the procedures by which a good deal of hearsay and clearly malicious evidence was being allowed to go into the record.

And then came Goldfine's valid complaint, theatrically shrill though it was, that a committee investigator had been using a "bug" or tape recorder microphone, against him.

Now, "bugging" does go on. But few would defend it except in rare, grave cases where infamous crimes against public safety or national security are involved.

No sensible congressman could ever justify this essentially lawless practice as a proper one for the highest law-making body of this country. Certainly Harris would never have sanctioned it, as he has so clearly shown.

Always Political

All the same, the incident did happen. And it happened primarily because congressional investigations are what they are. They are necessarily political—less so under a good than a bad chairman, but political always.

They are never truly objective, as is a court, nor could they be. For even the most decent committee is not exactly looking for an acquittal. When it starts a hearing, it naturally can have no wish to have it end in the collapse of whatever case the committee has developed.

Such investigations, moreover, do not have and cannot have the decorum and detachment of a court. The atmosphere, though it may vary markedly in degree, in substance is always the same: Ah! You evil fellow; we've got you, haven't we?

Most of all they are disorderly, in the deepest sense. And this is because congress is the wrong place either to conduct investigations or prosecutions or to dispense any kind of justice. Not being a court, and having none of the carefully measured powers and responsibilities of a court, a committee is invariably tempted to go where it has no right to go.

Conducted on Rubbish

And not being under the protections of a court, the accused witness is invariably tempted to conduct his defense as much on publicity rubbish as on fact.

Bernard Goldfine, for example, is surrounded by a battalion of public relations men. How does objective truth emerge from a contest between hucksterism on the defense side and irresponsible, penny-ante snoopism on the committee side?

Truth is one of the victims of this sort of procedure. The accused sometimes are victims, too. (And rich, conservative Republican businessmen can bleed from the wounds of injustice quite as freely as did the liberal intellectuals in the days of McCarthyism.)

But perhaps the chief of all victims is the dignity of the congress of the United States.

Parking Ban On N. Lawe Approved

A parking ban on the west side of N. Lawe street from E. College avenue to E. Wisconsin avenue is being recommended by the public safety committee.

The city council will vote on the recommendation at 7:30 Wednesday night.

The N. Lawe section was placed on the county trunk highway system in May in an effort to avoid a referendum on whether the county should sell bonds to pay for a share of College-to-Candee high level bridge costs.

Mayor Clarence A. Mitchell Monday told the Optimist club he believes the city should petition the county for aid in widening the N. Lawe section.

The street has been described as too narrow to carry bridge traffic and rate designation as a county trunk.

N. Division Street

The parking ban was suggested by Ald. Homer Malmstrom after the street and sanitation committee got council approval for widening the block between E. Wisconsin and E. Summer street, which was said to be a traffic bottleneck especially to turning vehicles.

The safety committee also is recommending a 90-minute parking restriction for both sides of N. Division street between W. Franklin and W. Packard streets. An ordinance is believed to be on the books providing a restriction on the west side but it hasn't been enforced since the widening of the street a year ago.

Another parking restriction—a 30-minute limit—is recommended for the south side of E. Wisconsin avenue between N. Oneida street and the first driveway to the east. A business establishment complained there was no place for its patrons to park.

$506.40 resuscitator was ordered from Valley Welding Supply company. It will be kept at the Erb park swimming pool the rest of the summer and then go to the fire department.

Collection of Reptiles

Destroyed in Blaze at California Snake Pit

Garberville, Calif. (AP)—Firemen stepped gingerly Tuesday night as they fought a blaze at the Snake Pit, a reptile garden on Highway 101 eighteen miles south of here.

The structure burned to the ground, killing dozens of deadly snakes, including cobras, rattlers and boa constrictors. Owner Tex Cordell estimated damage at $10,000. He didn't know how the fire started. His entire collection was destroyed, he said.

There were no human injuries — and no snake bites among the nervous firemen. Garberville is about 150 miles north of San Francisco.

Man Collapses While Playing Golf Match

Phillip Linscott, Milwaukee, was taken to Appleton Memorial hospital by Lindy's ambulance early Wednesday evening after he collapsed while playing a golf match at Butte des Morts Golf club.

Radio Stolen

G. K. Willecke, 1938 S. Bouten street, told police Wednesday thieves took a small radio from his boathouse on N. Green Bay street. The thieves entered the building by sawing the door around the door handle, police said.

Updrafts of Moist, Warm Air Cool Off to Produce Rainfall

BY RAMON COFFMAN

Much rain is produced after moist winds rise above hills or mountains. The moist air becomes cooler and cooler as it rises, and at length there is rain.

That is only part of the story. A person may ask, "Why does a flat area often have a great deal of rain?"

After the soil is heated by sunshine, the heat rises and warms the air near the surface. The warm air goes upward. If it contains moisture, it is likely to produce cumulus, or cumulonimbus, clouds.

The updrafts reach cool parts of the atmosphere if they rise very high. As a result, rain can be expected. Often the updrafts produce strong showers instead of long-continued rain.

Flat areas also obtain rain after a warm, moist wind meets a cold wind. The warm air rises above the cool wind. If the warm air goes high enough, rain may be expected.

To produce rain, the air which rises must be moist. There is plenty of warm air above the Sahara and other deserts, but that air is dry. A desert has so little that it hardly rains.

Part of a rainbow shows above low mountains.

Q. What makes a rainbow?

A. A rainbow is formed when the color rays in sunshine are divided by drops of rain. A little rainbow may be seen when a hose is made to send out a fine spray on a sunny day.

The best time to make a rainbow of your own is in mid-morning or mid-afternoon. The hose should be pointed away from the sun when the test is made.

Rainbows in the sky have been a source of wonder to people through the ages. They are called by names with various meanings. The Sanskrit name means "bow of Indra," and refers to an ancient Hindu god of thunderstorms. The French name means "arch in the sky," and Indo-China has a name meaning "heavenly window."

Last City in State Gives Up Commission

Most Now Have Mayor-Council Government Form

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison—The recent extinction of the last city commission form of government in Wisconsin occurring at Fond du Lac, underlines an essentially conservative approach of the people of Wisconsin on forms of city administration.

The League of Wisconsin Municipalities in a survey made public here reminds that of the 185 cities in the state, 163 have the mayor-council form of government of long standing tradition and evidently greatest acceptability by voters and taxpayers.

Twelve cities now have the city manager plan, including Fond du Lac which recently threw out the commission form in favor of the council-manager idea.

Six other Wisconsin cities which once had the council-manager form have abandoned it, including Superior most recently, and Madison a few years ago.

Appleton Tried

The commission form has had some adherents since the legislature authorized it nearly half a century ago, the municipal federation recalled. Fifteen cities used it at some time or other. Eau Claire tried it first, in 1910. Appleton adopted the form in 1911 and in 1917 was the first to give it up.

The 12 cities which now operate under city managers, in collaboration with elected councils, are Beloit, Eau Claire, Fond du Lac, Fort Atkinson, Janesville, Lake Geneva, Lake Mills, Marinette, Oshkosh, Two Rivers, Watertown and Whitewater.

Seven villages also have managers, including Brown Deer, Elm Grove, Fox Point, Greendale, River Hills, Shorewood and Whitefish Bay, all of them substantial suburbs of Milwaukee.

Committee Meets On Labor Legislation

Washington (AP)—The house labor committee meets today amid speculation it might unsmile a bill on disclosure of labor welfare and pension funds.

Rep. Ludwig Teller (D-N.Y.) said in advance that his subcommittee had some recommendations to make on the bill and he expected the situation on the legislation to be clarified.

Teller's group resigned in mass several weeks ago protesting that eight other committee members had accused them unjustly of stalling. The committee asked them to reconsider the resignation, and Teller said they would.

The senate has passed legislation requiring disclosure of information on welfare and pension fund plans operated both by unions and by employers.

Deadline Today on Petition, Vote For Bridge Bond

Deadline for filing a petition asking for a referendum on Outagamie county's $500,000 bond issue for the proposed College-to-Candee bridge approached today with no indication of whether the petition will be filed. Deadline is 5 o'clock this afternoon.

No count on how near the circulators are to obtaining the 3,473 signatures required was available. Backers of the petition indicated earlier that they intend to file the petition and that they were getting signatures from Appleton and outside the city.

The county board authorized the bond issue at its June meeting avoiding a referendum by placing several streets (including E. John street) on the county trunk system.

A furor has since developed, generated mainly in the east end of College avenue where most of those circulating the petition live. Edwin Laughlin, spokesman for the petitioners, said the appeal for a referendum was based on a desire for a "regional approach rather than the purely sectional approach taken so far."

The county will sell the bonds in August, if no referendum is forthcoming. If the petition is filed, the referendum will be on the Sept. 9 primary election ballot.

17-Month-Old Boy Gets Foot Caught in Drain, Freed by Police Work

Appleton police this morning freed a 17-month-old boy who had his foot caught in a floor drain.

The boy, Bruce Miller, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Miller, Sr., 1420 N. Kenilworth avenue, was walking around the basement of his home while his mother did the family washing when he stepped into the drain.

Police freed him after about 15 minutes work by hooking a wire around his wedged-in heel.

Schmalz, an electrician, was preparing to put in a new air compressor when he fell over some loose concrete onto the handle of a wheelbarrow, a company official said today.

Schmalz was discharged from the hospital this morning.

Braves Absorb 10-3 Loss, Lead by Only Half a Game

Steve Bilko Leads Assault With 3-Run Homer; Williams Pitches 4-Hitter for Dodgers

Los Angeles — The last place Dodgers still are bad medicine for the Braves, especially in the Los Angeles coliseum where Milwaukee has yet to score a victory.

There was no black magic attached to the 10-3 beating Los Angeles administered the jittery world champs Wednesday night — just pure, unadulterated power, coupled with Milwaukee's continued impotence at bat.

Hurls 4-Hitter
Chief villain of the Dodgers' eighth victory over the Braves in 10 meetings this year was stout Steve Bilko, who homered and drove in four runs. But the crowd of 32,337 quite properly saved some of its cheers for Stan Williams, a towering young rookie right-hander, who set the Braves down with four hits.

The upshot of this debacle was further reduction of Milwaukee's National league lead — now shrunk to half a game. Bilko, inserted in the Los Angeles lineup at first base, drove in three of his runs with a first-inning homer, a 380-foot smash over the left center field screen, No. 5 of the season.

The big fellow, one of the most popular baseball players in Southern California history when he was hitting homers for the old Los Angeles Angels of the Pacific Coast league, got a big ovation. He drove in another run in the fourth on a sacrifice fly that brought in John Roseboro, who had tripped.

Rookie right-hander Carl Willey, who beat the Dodgers last month in Milwaukee, just didn't have it this time. He surrendered four runs in the first inning and took his second loss against as many victories.

Roseboro Triples
Long Gene Conley followed Willey to the mound and was just about as effective. The Dodgers got to him quickly and he didn't last out the second inning. Next came Bob Trowbridge who arrived in time for Roseboro to drive in two runs with a single.

Trowbridge retired the side

Mayville — Appleton's American Legion Junior baseball team dropped its third straight game here Wednesday night as Mayville won, 13-4.

Appleton scored three runs in the second and one in the fifth. Marv Hietpas doubled to open the second inning and went to third on an error. Brian Zordel singled to drive in one run. After Rick Hietpas walked, Dave Nymoen singled, driving in another run, and Relien was out on a fielder's choice, which scored the third run.

Larry Riley scored Appleton's other run in the fifth when he took first on a fielder's choice.

Pro Sports Measure May be Sidelined

O'Mahoney Calls It 'Owners' Bill' After Stengel, Others Testify

Washington — Questions raised by senators may sideline sports legislation backed by Baseball Commissioner Ford Casey Stengel, the Yankee manager, and star baseball players.

Sen. Joseph C. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.) said today he is against the house-passed measure in its present form, seeking a "blanket waiver of the bill would give pro team anti-trust and federal community sports certain important exemptions from anti-trust laws."

"It is clearly a club owners' bill," O'Mahoney told reporters. "It is not a fans' bill, nor a players' bill, nor a bill for the businessmen in any city who would like to have a major league team."

Tribe Hands Yanks Year's Worst Loss

Yankee-Hater Joe Gordon Gloats As Cleveland Explodes for 12-2 Win

New York — Joe Gordon held forth at second base for the New York Yankees for many a year, but nowadays he's strictly an enemy of the Bronx Bombers.

And, as an enemy will on occasion, he did a little gloating today.

"Boy," he laughed, "I'll bet they felt strange last night after getting rid of Power, Held and Hunter."

He was referring to last night's 12-2 slaughter of the Yanks — the first time he's come up against them as manager of the Cleveland Indians. He took over for Bobby Bragan two weeks ago and the Tribe has won seven out of 11 since.

Go to Town

Vic Power, Woody Held and Billy Hunter all were laborers for Casey Stengel in recent years, but the Yanks couldn't find a spot for them. Wednesday night, they really went to town against Whitey Ford and Virgil Trucks. Power had five hits, Held two and Hunter two. The game was the only one scheduled in the American league Wednesday night.

The Tribe collected 19 hits off Ford and Trucks. It was the worst barrage the Yanks have been subjected to this season.

Close Battle

Actually, it was a close battle between Ford and Cal McLish for seven innings. But in the eighth, the Indians scored seven runs. McLish was lifted for a pinch hitter during the uprising, which prompted Gordon to comment: "Imagine making your last pitch with the score tied, 1-1, and finishing up the winner of a 12-2 ball game."

A dozen Indians batted in that eighth inning. Included among the hits were a homer by Mickey Vernon and doubles by Held, Bobby Avila and Billy Harrell. The Tribe scored four more in the ninth, but by that time they were getting tired.

Senators May Sideline Pro Sports Bill

thority to regulate television and radio broadcasts of their games.

The subcommittee and a full audience yesterday heard Stengel, Ted Williams, Mickey Mantle, Robin Roberts and Eddie Yost.

In general, the star witnesses testified the bill would allow baseball to continue practices which they contended have made the game a success but which might be challenged under anti-trust statutes.

The supreme court has held baseball is outside anti-trust jurisdiction. But in a separate ruling that pro football is covered by the same laws, the court indicated any sport—including baseball—might also be held subject to regulation in future decisions.

Curry Language

Stengel didn't specifically endorse the exemption bill. Stengel, which he has added to the language of baseball, is curvy.

When Kefauver inquired why baseball owners want any new law, the sage of Yankee stadium wound up and uncorked this one:

"I wouldn't know, but I imagine to keep baseball going as high as baseball is a sport, they have gone into baseball and from the baseball angle."

Stengel, in his own unfathomable style, also told senators that baseball is a good sport and a clean one—and that everybody seems to hate his New York Yankees for winning so often.

Stengel kept the senators and the audience in guffaws as he traced his own baseball career from a $135 monthly job with a class D team 48 years ago to his present position of wealth and distinction as a perennial manager of American league pennant winners.

by striking out Bilko and Ransom Jackson but not before three runs had scored.

In the fourth, Roseboro's triple and Bilko's sacrifice produced Los Angeles' tenth run and that ended further Dodger scoring.

Meanwhile, the Braves were having their troubles with Williams. The Los Angeles rookie retired the first five Braves to face him. Then, in the second, Bill Bruton and Johnny Logan hit successive doubles and Crandall singled in Logan with the second run.

Three walks and a sacrifice fly by Mathews netted a Milwaukee run in the fifth. But that was all the Braves could produce on their slim portion of four hits.

There's more trouble ahead for the NL leaders. Tonight left-hander Johnny Podres, who has won all seven starts this year at the Coliseum, will face the Braves. Against left-handers this season the Tribe has won six and lost 10. Lew Burdette, striving to reach the 500 mark with his seventh victory, will go for the Braves. He has lost both his starts against Los Angeles thus far.

Cazenovia Proud of Ryne Duren, Yankee Righthanded Relief Ace

BY ARTHUR BYSTROM

Cazenovia, Wis. — Prominently displayed on the bulletin board of the post office in this little community of 600 are the latest pitching records of the American league.

Encircled is the top name "Duren, New York."

"That's our boy," any man, woman or child of Cazenovia will tell you even if you do not ask.

Duren is Rindol George Duren, Jr., 29, son of the Cazenovia postmaster and Mrs. Ann Murphy Duren. He also is the ace righthanded relief pitcher of the New York Yankees.

Tenth Season

Ryne, as he likes to be called, finally hit the top this year, his tenth season in organized ball. According to his father, success came primarily because he has found his control.

Always blessed with a great fast ball and some good curves, Duren bounced around with various minor league clubs because he was wild. He had a couple of brief previous shots at the big time, but couldn't stay up.

Ryne, one of eight children, has achieved success despite a bad eye that was injured when he was a child and despite the fact that he spent more than four months in bed with rheumatic fever 11 years ago. He still wears thick lensed glasses. "It's because of his perseverance," his father said. "He never would let anything hold him back. He knew he was wild in the years he moved around the minors and always was trying to find how to get control."

"Finally in 1956 at Vancouver, Lefty O'Doul got him straightened out and he's sure he will stay up now."

Started in 1948

Duren went from Vancouver to Denver where last year he won 13, lost two and struck out 116 men. He was sent to Denver by Kansas City and became Yankee property last year in a trade with the A's that also involved Billy Martin.

Ryne got his start in baseball in 1948 with Cazenovia in the Sauk league, a circuit of small town teams that played Sunday ball.

Ryne struck out and walked

Valdes Jumps Back Into Title Picture

Stops Carter In Ninth Round Of Spokane Bout

Spokane — Nino Valdes responded to a swat on the pants from his manager with a right to the chin of Harold Carter Wednesday night and jumped right back into the heavyweight title picture.

Valdes, behind on points, got the swat along with stern orders in Spanish from Manager Bobby Gleason to get going in the ninth round. He quickly got the message and laid Carter out cold in 1:40 of the round after dropping him for an 8-count seconds before.

Doesn't Count

Referee Joe August didn't even bother to count as Carter went down on his face and rolled over on his back. He raised Valdes' hand, then scrawled "TKO" across his score card.

Thus, it became an official technical knockout at that moment regardless of what Carter did. It developed he did nothing but remain unconscious for another 60 seconds, then wobble out of the ring.

The nationally - televised fight, scheduled for 10 rounds, was the second test for the 24-year-old Carter since his discharge last winter from the Army.

He had been slightly favored on the strength of a 10-round decision June 13 over Willi Besmanoff and was ahead on all three official score cards when the end came.

Ted Marchbroda Signs Pact With Grid Cards

Chicago — Ted Marchbroda, veteran quarterback from St. Bonaventure and the University of Detroit, has signed for another season with the Chicago Cardinals of the National Football league.

Marchbroda, who was obtained from the Pittsburgh Steelers last year, will be starting his first full season with the Cardinals.

Riverview's Trophy Meet Set to Start

New Champion Will Emerge From 29-Player Field

Twenty-nine golfers will compete in the President's Trophy handicap tournament at the Riverview Country club.

John Reeve is ineligible to defend his 1957 championship since he is this year's club president. Prizes are donated annually by the president.

Last year's runner-up John Landis will play Joe Marston in the opening round. Three other players — Mark Catlin, Jr., John Gall, and Jim Femal — draw byes in the schedule.

The other first round pairings are as follows: William A. Daniel, Jr. versus A. R. Ellis; Bernie Heseltun vs. John Menn; Bob Barlament vs. John Green; William McGraw vs. Dr. E. N. Krueger; Ed Woody vs. William Gallagher; Otto Schultz vs. Roy Joseph; Andrew Pertain vs. Paul Boronow; Russ Bauman vs. Zinn Garrett; Vince Jones vs. Charles Lingelbach; F. A. ## Storming O'Malley Threatens Dodgers With Big Shake-Up

Los Angeles — Dodger boss Walter O'Malley stormed home from the East Wednesday night threatening his cellar-dwelling team with a drastic shake-up.

"The players are hereby put on notice that changes will be made until we get the right combination," he told newsmen before Wednesday night's game with the Braves, which his charges promptly went out and won, 10-3. He added:

"Replacements will come from any place we can obtain them — other major league clubs, our farm system, other minor league clubs."

How about Manager Walt Alston?

"He's our manager and he's going to stay. So far as I'm concerned, he gets a vote of confidence for the first half of the season and I'm not changing the party line at this time."

A reporter wanted to know if that meant Alston will be retained at least through the present season.

"Definitely," he answered. But he hedged when reporters pressed for more details.

State College Teachers May Run for Office

Superiors to Decide Whether Teaching Suffers, Board Told

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

State college faculty members have a right to run for political office just as any other citizen, but their superiors are responsible for determining whether their political activities are interfering with professional duties.

That was the report made Wednesday to the board of state college regents by E. R. McPhee, state college director.

McPhee said he had turned over to Atty. Gen. Stewart Honeck the inquiry of several state college presidents about the propriety of political candidacies by teachers in the state system.

McPhee quoted Honeck as saying that the board could not make rules against candidacies by teachers.

College Presidents

But college presidents have the right and the obligation to assure themselves that a teacher's political sidelines do not interfere with his effectiveness on the job for which he is being paid, he added.

President Forrest R. Polk of the state college at Oshkosh was one of the college heads who asked for guidance on the question.

Numbers of state college teachers have run for office in recent campaigns but some of them took leaves of absence with the approval of the regents. A teacher on leave now running for congressman is Charles Hornback of the Eau Claire state college faculty. He is unopposed for the Republican nomination.

A state-wide controversy on the matter of teachers' political rights broke out a little more than a decade ago when the University of Wisconsin board of regents refused to reappoint Howard McMurray, a faculty member who had left his job several times to run for congressional office. McMurray was the Democratic nominee for U. S. senator in 1946, losing to the late Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy. McMurray is now teaching in California.

U. S. Owes More Than Ride to Ike's Brother

Petty Subject for Democrats to Get Critical About

BY DAVID LAWRENCE Washington—Now the Democrats are picking on Dr. Milton Eisenhower, the president's brother.

They're criticizing as a "cavalier misuse of taxpayer's money" the sending of government planes to transport him from his vacation spot in Wisconsin back to Washington.

The criticism is picayunish stuff. For the truth is the government of the United States owes Milton Eisenhower more than a free airplane ride.

The president's brother was formerly president of Kansas State College and Pennsylvania State university, and now is the head of Johns Hopkins university. He is a member of the president's advisory commission on the reorganization of the government and has performed special duties for the White House ever since 1953.

He has held for the last five years the title of representative of the president and special ambassador to Latin America. In 1953 he visited 10 countries in Latin America, covering a period of 33 days.

He spent 10 days on an official mission to Mexico in 1957. A few weeks ago, Dr. Eisenhower represented the president at the meeting of the World Health association in Minneapolis. He has received no fee for any of these services.

Air transportation has been provided in each case by the government. If the same amount of traveling had been done in private business, there would have been some compensation for the individual performing the service.

In government work, however, there are a few unselfish citizens who, when called upon, give their time and energies without pay. Certainly it cannot be persuasively argued that the individual who gives his services free should be required to pay his transportation expenses when interrupting his vacation to meet a government time schedule which has been suddenly revised to an earlier date.

Muddling Days But these are days of muddling against the party in power, and of publicity-seeking by political candidates who think it's popular to heckle the administration. These tactics can be boomerang. For certainly there are many citizens in the land who may have been willing to serve their government without fee but who now are being told, in effect, that they must not expect government transportation to and from their homes if they are called called on to carry out special missions.

One would suppose that the government of the United States need not be so penny-wise and pound-foolish as to demand that citizens give their services without pay and also themselves foot the expenses of transportation to and from Washington. Any private business would call such expenses "ordinary and necessary" and take a tax deduction besides. The fact that military planes were used has also been the subject of criticism. Actually, the government has no planes of its own for civilian transportation except those attached to the military services. Many of the military planes make practice flights or fly long distances every day to give certain hours of training to pilots. It doesn't seem logical to ask the government to pay for passage on a commercial airplane when it has many a military plane idle that can be used for the same purpose.

Basically, the fact is that Dr. Eisenhower, when summoned to end his vacation prematurely, was thereafter traveling on government business. There is nothing unusual or irregular in sending planes for persons the president calls to Washington on business. What is unusual is that Dr. Eisenhower is not on the government payroll at all, though he performs important services for the government.

Bad Impression While Dr. Eisenhower's tour of six Central American countries doesn't begin till the coming weekend, it was important for him to report at the state department at once so as to be brought up to date on certain background information necessary for him to have before visiting those countries.

Inasmuch as Dr. Eisenhower's wife died a few years ago, his daughter accompanies him as hostess. It is customary for officials of the United States government and their wives, when visiting abroad, to participate in the social functions arranged for them by the governments which are host to such special missions.

In these days when particular efforts are being made to cultivate good relations with America's neighbors in this hemisphere, it is most unfortunate that the partisan politicians here are exploiting petty subjects and thus publicizing throughout Latin America an impression that the mission itself may not have the approval of both parties in the United States.

Shares Again Move Upward

Boeing Advances Upon Report of Defense Contract

New York —(U.S.)— The stock market gained slightly in fairly active trading early this afternoon. Key stocks rose from fractions to better than a point. Small losers were scattered through the list and a number of stocks were unchanged. The shock of Ford's dividend cut which upset the market Wednesday had apparently subsided. Ford shares firmed after their loss of 2 1/2. The stock was about unchanged. A big defense contract for Boeing boosted that stock more than a point and inspired other aircrafts to gains. Coppers were generally lower following word of a reduction in copper scrap prices. Motors were about unchanged. Rails and chemicals were mostly higher. Airlines were off. Boeing rose briskly on news of its defense contracts totaling more than $320 million. Servel rose about a point. Wall Street reassessed the progress of its possible acquisition of Hydril Co. of Los Angeles. Lorillard was easy, then resumed its advance, adding about a point. Mack Trucks had a flurry which boosted its price more than a point. U. S. Steel gained a sizable fraction. Kennecott and International Nickel were off about a point apiece. Illinois Central rose close to a point. Du Pont's rise of more than a point paced an improving chemicals section. U. S. government bonds advanced sharply.

Chewing Food by Count Once Popular; Idea Has Lost Favor

By Joseph G. Molner, M. D.

"Dear Dr. Molner: How often should an adult or child chew a bite of food in his mouth? Can a person chew 80 times on one bite without swallowing any food?—Mrs. P.C."

Back around the turn of the century Horace Fletcher made quite an issue of chewing food. This became known as Fletcherism, or "Fletcherism." And I'm sure that a lot of your food, and for quite a while, other people remember it, too.

especially those who were impressionable youngsters at the time the notion had its great vogue—I dare say it had a vogue greater than any except the fads that have become as overwhelming as rock 'n' roll. So the idea keeps coming back, through the recollections of some of us.

Actually, there is no numerical rule about chewing food. Rapid eaters naturally chew and acting as though their food less, as a rule, than slow eaters, but with either it is perfectly normal that a certain amount of food is swallowed as it is broken up. The first purpose of chewing is to break up the food fibres and the chunks of food, and to soften the food so the digestive juices in the stomach can reach them more readily and absorb the food value, including, of course, the various vitamins and minerals as well as the other elements. A second purpose of chewing is that it encourages the flow of those digestive juices. (You say your "mouth waters" when you see a tasty dish. In the same way, your "stomach waters" when you eat.) Third, some digestion, especially of starches, begins in the mouth because of enzymes present in saliva.

Thus a reasonable amount of chewing is desirable, but the wolfers of food seem to have no more difficulty than the methodical, slow chewers, so that I should say that for a general rule, food that is chewed enough to swallow easily has been chewed enough.

As to insisting that a child, or anybody else, chew a particular number of times—I say don't. I assume, of course, that the child is obviously well-nourished and has no distress after eating.

In fact, making an issue of the matter at the table, and especially any threat of punishment, would in my estimation certainly do more harm to the child's digestive process than any lack of chewing could do. Eating is a natural process and I certainly feel that the best way is to let nature dictate the proper amount of chewing. Hard, fibery, or lumpy food will be unpleasant to swallow unless broken up into reasonable sizes. This automatically will take care of the "correct" amount of chewing in any but the most unusual cases. (Copyright, 1958)

Appleton Post-Crescent C 1 Thursday, July 10, 1958

Children and Traffic

Business leaders in Appleton's Wisconsin avenue district have gotten into quite an argument with state highway officials over the operation of the stop-and-go lights at the intersection of Morrison street with the avenue. The controversy presents a good example of our modern problem of deciding between the rights and safety of pedestrians, and the right of vehicle drivers to reasonably uncongested traffic arteries on which to travel.

Wisconsin avenue is a primary street, and furthermore is part of a state highway. Morrison street is neither. And therein lies the problem.

Appleton's generally well-conceived primary street plan calls for stop-and-go lights only at places where primary streets intersect. From the standpoint of good traffic flow, this obviously makes sense. Permitting lights to be installed at other intersections — where primary streets intersect with non-primary streets — soon would result in slowing up traffic on the primary streets, thus defeating their purpose.

But the situation at Wisconsin avenue and Morrison street presents a special problem — that of child safety. The presence there of St. Therese church and school means that the intersection is used by large numbers of youngsters. Recognizing this, the state authorities have agreed to the installation of stop-and-go lights, but insist that they operate only during the times the school is letting out or classes are about to begin. But businessmen in the area argue that children use the intersection at other times — such as when evening band practice or scout meetings are being held at the school. They want the lights operating from 6 a. m. to 9 p. m.

This situation is similar, we think, to that on W. Lawrence street where St. Joseph school is on one side of the street and St. Joseph church on the other. Lawrence is a one-way primary street, and despite careful policing, both by the school authorities and the police an accident there is almost inevitable some day. When you mix kids and fast traffic, you're in trouble.

We have suggested before that a pedestrian tunnel be built under W. Lawrence street, and we think the same thing should be done at Wisconsin and Morrison. The only long-run answer to the pedestrian-vehicle problem is to separate the two, and while tunnels or overheads may be too expensive for general use we think it would be worthwhile to build them now at places where large numbers of children must cross primary traffic arteries.

Another Way to Boost Dairy Production

The dairy income of farmers in New York would be boosted by more than $60 millions annually if the farmers would cut their hay in early June rather than in early July, according to an estimate by Kenneth Turk, Cornell University dairyman, and Keith Kennedy, agronomist. The study by the Cornell experts was discussed in a recent issue of Hoard's Dairymen with some interesting comments.

In support of their findings the Cornell men told of experimenting with two groups of cattle of about the same milk production. One group was fed on hay cut in early June, and the other on hay cut in early July. The cows getting the late hay fell off in production every week of the 20-week experiment. At the end of the period they were off about 60 per cent. Later they were put on the early-cut hay and within five weeks they had doubled their production.

Kidnaping in Cuba

It's rather surprising, when you stop to think of it, that there has been no wave of resentment in this country over the kidnaping of American citizens by the rebels in Cuba.

The reason is probably simple: the Cuban rebels are not communists. As a matter of fact there is probably a feeling of some sympathy in this country for Fidel Castro and his cohorts who are fighting the dictatorship of Fulgencia Batista.

But right is right when it is a question of Americans abroad being denied their civil rights by any government or armed band.

In years gone by we always were proud to say that the American flag would protect its citizens wherever in the world they might be. Theodore Roosevelt did not hesitate to use the "big stick" to make that position clear.

We have been quite disappointed in the way President Eisenhower and Secy. Dulles have responded to this Cuban situation. The president said that this country would not intervene because we wanted to get the Americans out alive. Dulles said we wouldn't intervene because that was just what the rebel Castro wanted us to do.

But in the meantime a number of the Americans are still being held prisoner. Promises from Castro that they would be released immediately have not been fulfilled.

We wonder what would happen if our government would say to the Batista government in Cuba, "We want our citizens returned safely and we want them protected in the future. If you can't assure us of that we have some Marines who can."

Eisenhower and Dulles are probably thinking that if they get tough with the Castro rebels they'll have to come up with a new answer to the question of the Americans still being held by the communists in East Germany, or in Red China.

If we get tough with Castro we'd also have to get tough with Khrushchev.

But it's rather embarrassing to American pride to read of these citizens being held prisoner and all we can do is plead with a bunch of Cuban hillbillies to release them.

Canadian System Might Help Solve Hog Raising Problem

From Norfolk, Neb., Daily News.

Canadian hog raisers have it over producers in this country because they have shifted from the butcher type, relatively fat, hog to the lean meaty type, now demanded by the consumer.

This is a finding of a study group organized by the department of agriculture, to look into the Canadian system.

Canada was driven to make the change to compete on the British market with Danish producers. The change was speeded when the government put in a practice of using the carcass system of grading hogs in 1940. The result was that the 35 per cent of butcher type hogs produced in 1928 dropped to 8.2 per cent in 1940.

The study says that Canadian packers pay price differentials between grades of hogs that run two and a half to three times greater than even considered possible in the United States. The relatively small differential in this country is cited as one of the reasons U. S. farmers have not turned more generally to the meat-type hog.

To the layman there would seem to be an idea in the facts given in the study of great possibilities for the U. S. hog raiser. The preference of the American consumer for lean meat has been tested often enough to be accepted as a fact.

And yet, as a livestock man recently complained, the emphasis in this country is on fat, even though land is a drug on the market, and housewives have, in tests, shown their preference for lean cuts.

Evidently marketing practices are, in part at least, to blame for the slowness of the change to meat-type animals, reluctance to change traditional practices being the other part.

Support prices are blamed for the slowness of wheat producers to shift to the type of grain in greatest demand, but this can't be blamed in the case of livestock. Reluctance to change marketing and breeding practices to meet shifting consumer requirements seems to be the reason.

The Cooperative Consumer, which reviews the D of A's study, comments:

"The United States is 30 years behind Canada in the development of a marketing

What Shall It Be, Alas. or Aa.?

From the Chicago Tribune.

As a . . . project for speculation, we suggest a proper abbreviation for the new state. As it is, the full name "Alaska" is used for all official purposes. "Ala." has been preempted by Alabama. No present state requires the use of more than four letters in its abbreviated form. The customary method, in this case, would yield "Alas." Obviously no one wants to say that he lives in Juneau, Alas! Many states use the first and last letters of their name, a process which would give "Aa." While this sounds more cheerful than "Alas," it still seems to lack the necessary dignity.

We have no further ideas at the moment, but the matter does bear looking into.

system that recognizes the merits of leaner, meatier hogs."

A few years ago, when the hog raisers were in distress, most of them turned to the government for help. They asked for, but did not receive, government support. Perhaps a closer study of the Canadian system might be of more help to them than government money.

Week Marked by Severe Storms

79 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for the week of July 12, 1879.

We have experienced some severe storms within the week, the rain coming down in sheets, but doing no perceptible damage outside of a few special injuries to property.

These storms were generally accompanied by sharp lightning, heavy thunder and almost hurricane winds.

The office chimney of the Richmond Paper Mill was struck by lightning, but beyond wrecking it, no other serious damage was done. The fluid struck one of the telegraph poles near Mr. S. S. Sheldon's house, entered the office of the North Western Railway and played havoc there, as was also the case with several telephone lines in town.

The ground is now thoroughly saturated with water for the first time this summer.

Another wild wind and a dash of rain with sharp lightning visited the city early Thursday morning.

25 YEARS AGO

Thursday, July 6, 1933

The borrowing of $400,000 from the federal government under the National Recovery act for construction of a new high school was recommended by the board of education in a resolution read at the meeting of the common council.

Three Appleton boys left that morning for Camp Manitowish on Boulder lake. They were Harwood Orbison, Bob Joffe and John Koffend. Tad Meyer, Appleton, also left that morning to be a camp leader.

F. P. Young, who last April was elected Outagamie county superintendent of schools, took over his new duties that week when A. G. Meeting, superintendent for more than a score of years, relinquished the office.

William Toepler, Menasha, was installed as noble grand of Twin city Odd Fellows lodge. R. Hoffman was seated as vice grand.

10 YEARS AGO Thursday, July 8, 1948

Sgt. Irvin C. Swamp, Appleton, was promoted to the grade of staff sergeant in the air force at his base with the 40th fighter wing on Guam.

Miss Betty Vance Weinberger, Appleton, graduated from the Methodist School of Nursing, Peoria, Ill.

Henry J. VanStraten, county superintendent of schools, was to attend a meeting at the University of Wisconsin on July 19, 20 and 21 to discuss general school problems.

Gordon Rasmussen and Harold Helms of Appleton were to be entrants in the Waukesha motorcycle hill climb Sunday. Rasmussen and Helms, along with Duane Schultz of Neenah, were to be entered in the hill climb at New London, July 18.

From the Bradenton, Fla., Herald.

School is out, and the youngsters once more will be setting up that universal cry of youthful anguish "What can I do?"

That cry is one that drives parents to distraction at times. It's felt to be the key to the problem of juvenile delinquency — if we give the youngsters enough planned play they won't go breaking windows, stealing watermelons, and destroying one another with zip guns and hot rods.

It's surprising that the obvious answer to the perennial summer complaint is so rare that, once given, it's attracting a good bit of attention.

A mother in the state of Washington took pen in hand and maternal temper in rein not long ago and wrote a letter to the Seattle Post-Intelligencer. It's rapidly going the rounds.

The advice of the mother to the teen-agers is so sound and so overlooked because of its obvious nature, that we reprint it here with a "wish we'd said that" attitude and in the thought it may be a seed for fertile soil.

The letter:

"Always we hear the plaintive cry of the teen-agers: 'What can we do, where can we go?' I can make some suggestions: Go home.

"Hang the storm windows, paint the woodwork, rake the leaves, mow the lawn, shovel the walk, wash the car, learn to cook, scrub some floors, repair the sink, build a boat, get a job.

"Help the minister, the Red Cross, the Salvation army. Visit the sick, assist the poor, study your lessons. And when you are through and not too tired, read a book.

"Your parents do not owe you entertainment. Your village does not owe you recreational facilities. The world does not owe you a living. You owe the world something. You owe it your time and energy, and your talents so that no one will be at war or in poverty, or sick or lonely again.

"In plain words, grow up. Quit being a cry-baby, get out of your dream world, develop a backbone, not a wishbone, and start acting like a man or a woman.

"I'm a parent. I'm tired of nursing, protesting, helping myself needed comfort for your every whim and fancy, just because your selfish ego instead of common sense dominates your thinking and requests."

Pretty strong words to direct to youngsters, and we recognize that many don't need them. But it's a workable prescription, as old as the human race. Those that doubt it should give it a try. They might be surprised at the results.

Some legislators are more audibly worried about land-

From the Washington Star.

Atty. Gen. Rogers used strong language in criticizing congress for its apathetic attitude toward legislation to create additional federal judgeships. He told the conference on Court Congestion that the failure to act on his proposal for 45 more judges was "disgraceful." However, in the light of disclosures at the conference concerning the appalling — and steadily increasing — backlog of cases awaiting trial in most United States courts, Rogers' strong criticism was warranted.

More than a hundred judges and bar leaders in the conference heard a depressing report on the general docket situation. Warren Olney, director of the administrative office of the United States courts, said that untold cases are piling up at the rate of more than 5,000 a year. As the accumulation rises, the gap between filing and trial increases correspondingly. In New York's eastern district the average delay in reaching trial has grown to 42 months. Such inordinate delays, said the attorney general, defeat justice and present "the most serious problem facing our profession today."

Yet congress has been dilly-dallying for several years with administration proposals for adding more judges to the federal bench. The proposed legislation has rested in committee pigeonholes at this session, with no indication that action is near. Congress cannot be assigned all the blame for the judge shortage, however. The administration itself has been slow to fill current vacancies, numbering about 10.

Sales Tax Favored From the Montgomery, Ala., Journal.

In Iowa, an economics professor has been nominated by the Republicans for governor on a platform urging increased sales tax and decreased property tax. That should have strong appeal to property owners in any state, and in Iowa most people have some property. Sales taxes are the only known form of taxes shared by everybody in accordance with expenditures.

Sen. Kefauver might find instructive the $2-a-ton cut in the Detroit delivered price of steel. This welcome development, set off by Great Lakes Steel corporation, should inform the senator that competition can be effective even in an industry much given to "administered" pricing.

Heretofore Great Lakes Steel's administered price has included a $2 differential in its favor, representing its freight advantage over competitors distant from the local market. This comfortable state of affairs superficially resembled one of those area basing point arrangements declared illegal by the supreme court a decade ago. However, it meant only that Great Lakes Steel, satisfied with its share of the local market, was content to meet rather than undercut outside competition.

There is an inherent slowness in governmental operations. A year ago, after years of agitation by volunteer firemen, the legislature authorized a training program for them under direction of state agencies. Last week a supervisor was finally hired to direct it.

Assemblyman Jerrold Leonard, a Republican from a reasonably safe Milwaukee district, probably will bid for the assembly speakership next January if he and the Republicans are returned. Several other Republicans now candidates for renomination and reelection have private ideas in that direction, however, and there is likely to be a lively competition in the Republican caucus. If the Democrats win control of the house, which is conceivable, it is hard to imagine how the party could deny its longtime floorleader, Assemblyman Robert T. Huber of West Allis the honor and the power of presiding over the house.

One result of the deliberations of the urban problems committee of the legislative council may be a proposal for new statutory definitions of the requirements for incorporated villages and cities. The laws on the subject have not been scrutinized by the legislature in years, although court decisions have shown that they are vague and difficult to interpret.

Why Gamble? Get Polio Shots

From the Chicago Daily News.

Just a few years ago July and August were the dread months when the polio toll was greatest. Now, thanks to the Salk vaccine, the situation has changed. Last year the incidence of polio in the county was down to a record low of 63 cases.

Nevertheless, there are great dangers remaining — especially among those who have passed up the shots to date. As Robert C. Liebenow, chairman of the Cook County chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, has noted, there are 1,916,000 adults in Chicago alone who have never had a Salk shot. There are 80,000 others under 20 who have never had the vaccine.

One way to reduce the toll still further this year would be for all these to get their shots now without gambling further with their health and their future economic security.

Mrs. Bera Wins Powder Puff Race
Charleston, S. C. — Mrs. Francis Bera of Long Beach, Calif., Wednesday was named winner of the twelfth annual transcontinental powder puff derby for women pilots. It was the fourth time she has won the event.
The 2,178-mile air race started at San Diego, Calif., Friday and ended at Charleston, with the deadline for arrival noon yesterday.
Mrs. Bera, with her co-pilot, Mrs. Evelyn Kelly, also of Long Beach, had an average ground speed of 177.8 miles per hour. The winners of the race were announced this morning after handicaps were figured for the 48 small planes that finished from a field of 61.
Thirteen other planes either were disqualified or failed to meet yesterday's deadline. Bad weather along the route hampered many of the planes. Several, which landed at unauthorized stopping points, were disqualified for this reason.
Rules of the race called for flights only during daylight hours and landings only at authorized fields.

Seek Help in Making Trip To Son's Grave

Belleville, N. J. —(AP)— Mr. and Mrs. Carman Scoppettulo want to be near their son once again, even if only for a little while.

Two years ago they traveled 3,000 miles to visit his grave—only to learn once they got there that they were in the wrong place.

Now they hope the United States government will help them resume the sentimental journey they were forced to abandon because of lack of funds.

learned their son had been buried in Germany, near where he fell. Their funds exhausted, they were forced to return home.

The Scoppettulos were heartbroken that they had been so near their son yet had been unable to visit his grave.

They appealed to Rep. Peter W. Rodino (D-N.J.), who said he would try to get the government to repay the $1,540.

Yesterday the house of representatives passed a bill to reimburse them. The measure now goes to the senate.

"It wasn't our fault we were sent to the wrong place," Mrs. Scoppettulo said on receiving the news. "Maybe they can give us back our money."

She added: "We know they can't give us back our son."

Lesson in English

BY W. L. GORDON

WORDS OFTEN MISUSED: The use of "sure" for "surely" is colloquial, and is never used in formal English in this sense. Do not say, "I sure am going." Say, "I SURELY am going."

OFTEN MISPRONOUNCED: Svelte. Pronounce as "svelt," to rhyme with "felt."

OFTEN MISPELLED: Loath (adjective, meaning reluctant). Loathe (verb, meaning to regard with disgust). Loathsome (no "e" after the "th").

SYNONYMS: thought (noun), reflection, meditation, contemplation, reverie.

WORD STUDY: "Use a word three times and it is yours." Let us increase our vocabulary by mastering one word each day.

Red Attacks on Planes Shocking, U. S. States

Washington —(AP)— The state department expressed shock Wednesday over what it called inhumane attacks by Soviet jet fighters which forced down a U.S. Air Force transport 12 days ago.

At the same time the department made public a note to Russia accusing East German authorities of seeking to "extort some form of advantage" by holding nine American soldiers. The nine were aboard a helicopter which lost its way and crossed into communist territory June 7.

The note to Moscow demanded "immediate release" of the men.

In regard to the plane downed by Soviet fighters, a state department spokesman said a decision will be made soon about what further action to take in the case.

What Young People Think

Rod Isn't Spared on Youth Today; They Resent It, Survey Indicates

BY EUGENE GILBERT

Disobeying the Biblical law "to honor thy father and mother" is regarded by many people as the first step along the road to delinquency.

And parents are as much to blame in this as the children, they say, because they fail to enforce discipline.

Asking nearly 700 teenagers around the country what they had to say about it, we learned:

1. More than four out of five said their parents do discipline them in one way or another.

2. The rod is still used extensively on young Americans. Almost one-third of the youngsters quizzed said mom and dad either slaps or spanks for misdeeds.

3. Abusing privileges is the No. 1 reason for punishment, with staying out too late, doing poorly in school and failing to do the chores following closely.

Resent Rod

4. The youngsters resent punishment. But then as one wise lad, 15-year-old Philip Nogales, Fresno, Calif., said: "Sure I resent it, but if I liked it, it Almost 75 Per Cent of the young people punished physically resent such a form of punishment, a nationwide survey shows. It also points out more than four out of five children are disciplined by parents in one way or another, while almost one-third of those questioned received physical punishments.

wouldn't be punishment, would it?"

5. More than half of the youngsters say they'll find some other way of punishing their own children than the method used by their folks.

Evidently the strength of the relationship between child and parent is more important to discipline than the form of punishment. If there is a 2-way feeling of respect, even slight verbal censure can carry weight.

Physical punishment is the most usual form of chastisement. Among the teenagers who receive punishment, 31 per cent said they were either slapped or spanked. But the wound remains, as it has always been, more psychological than physical.

Verbal Punishment

The next most important form of teenage punishment is verbal. Twenty-five per cent said their misdeeds touch off high volume vocal reactions.

"When my mom yells at me, it feels like reveille at dawn," said a 16-year-old Dallas boy.

And a 17-year-old Cleveland girl said of her father's verbal onslaughts: "It's a brainwashing. He doesn't stop. It goes on for hours. Sometimes I wish he'd just slap me and give me some peace and quiet."

A Peekskill, N. Y., girl said her punishment comes from the opposite direction. "If I do something my mother doesn't approve of, she tightens her lips, her face becomes rigid, and she doesn't say anything," she said. "It's deadly quiet and I feel like a criminal in solitary."

A cut in allowance, fewer dates, fewer trips to the sweet shop and bowling alley — this was the form of punishment described by 23.5 per cent of the youngsters. Another sizeable portion — 13.6 per cent — said they are denied some special privilege or treat when they violate their parents' concept of good behavior.

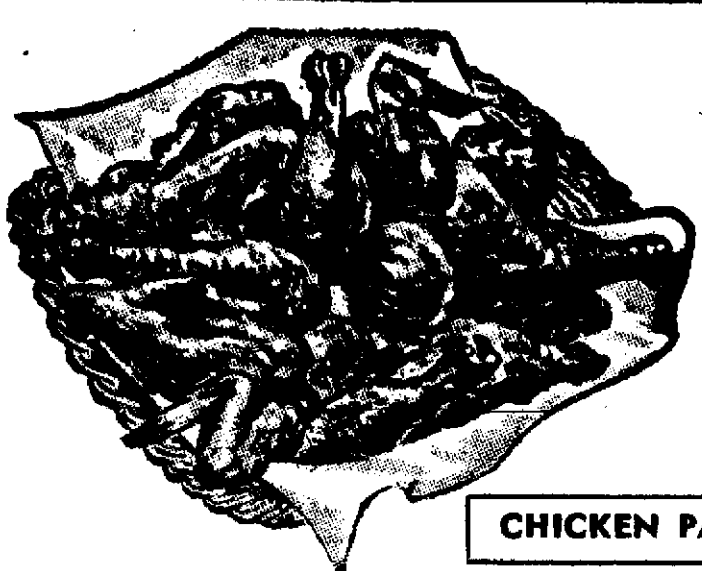

An earlier curfew is punishment for 9.6 per cent of the teenagers interviewed.

A 100,000-Watt Generator, Capable of providing electricity for all hospital needs in case of public power failure, has been installed at St. Elizabeth hospital. C. J. Schink, chief engineer, is shown with the $19,000 unit. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Hospital Adds Generator for Emergencies

100,000-Watt Unit Capable of Lighting All of Black Creek

A stand-by generator, with potential power enough to light the village of Black Creek, has been installed at St. Elizabeth hospital to provide electricity in case of public power failure.

The 100,000-watt, 240-volt, 3-phase generator and its installation cost $19,000.

According to C. J. Schink, chief engineer, the 250-horsepower engine will provide power through three transformers, five 200-ampere transfer switches and one 100-ampere transfer switch on a time delay operation.

He said it automatically would begin generating electricity immediately upon a public power failure and all electrical apparatus in the hospital would be fed within six seconds. In case the automatic switch fails, he explained, a bell rings, announcing to the fireman on duty that the apparatus must be turned on manually.

14,000-Pound Unit

The 14,000-pound generator rests on 6-inch I-beams on an 8-inch concrete base. Because the transformers are dry and don't utilize oil, they will not burn, Schink stated.

Among electrical apparatus fed by the unit are all outside lights, including lights on the parking lot, all interior lights, five elevators, all laundry

Stamp Selling Machines to Have Changes

Detroit (AP)—When you step up to a stamp machine in the corner drug store a month from now, there will be no need for a nickel.

Inflation has caught up with automation in the postage stamp business. The result is a major overhauling of many of the stamp vending machines.

On Aug. 1 the mailing price of post cards and unsealed Christmas cards will go up from 2 cents to 3 cents, first class mail will go up from 3 to 4 cents, and air mail will increase from 6 to 7 cents.

Schermack Products Corp., of Detroit, the largest and one of the oldest makers of postage stamp vending machines in the United States, is making these changes to keep up with the act of congress:

1. The slot that gives you four 1-cent stamps for 5 cents will give you two 4-cent stamps for 10 cents (same 20 per cent profit for the machine's owner).
2. The slot that gives you two 2-cent stamps for 5 cents will give you two 4-cent stamps for 10 cents (same 20 per cent profit).
3. The slot that gives you four 6-cent airmail stamps for 25 cents will give you three 7-cent stamps for 25 cents (raising the profit from 4 per cent to 16 per cent).
4. The slot that gives you three 3-cent stamps for 10 cents will give you two 4-cent stamps for 10 cents (raising the profit from 10 per cent to 20 per cent).
